Congress Quits But May Be Recalled

Passes Draft, Farm, Foreign Aid Measures

GOP Jams Through Legislative Program Over Demo Protests

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Weary eyed and subdued, the 80th Congress left town today expecting to come back before the end of the year.

In a grueling, stumbling final two days it had shoved through last-minute farm legislation, emphatically sent a peacetime draft on its way to the law books, and warmed up heavy political artillery for the national party conventions.

It also gave strong backing to the compromise $6,030,710,228 foreing aid bill. The House passed it 319 to 62, and the Senate whopped it through on a voice vote.

The agreement was $95,000,000 less than the Senate voted and more than a billion more than the House first approved. However, the big argument was settled on the Senate's terms; the money is appropriated for 15 months, but can be spent in 12 if the President thinks it necessary.

Senate At Desks 44 Hours

Signals from Republican leaders changed almost by the minute in the long closing hours and a murky dawn caught the lawmakers still at their desks. The senators had been there 44 hours and 15 minutes, and House members 20 hours and 55 minutes when the adjournment gavels finally fell: 5:55 a. m. EST in the House and 6:15 a. m. in the Senate.

Leaders left it so they can call Congress back to the job, and Speaker Martin (R-Mass) told reporters they probably will do it. Republicans will be ready to beat President Truman to the punch if he makes Congress' record any more of an issue in the presidential campaign, Martin said.

The farm bill came to the floor after an off-again-on-again night of leadership conferences. It was a hybrid made up of a temporary bill which passed the House last week and parts of a long-range bill approved earlier by the Senate.

Briefly, it will do this: Continue present price supports through 1949, and provide a new long-range program, at somewhat lower levels, to go into effect in 1950.

No Endurance Record Set

Neither house set an endurance record, but they were close. The Senate sat for 54 hours and 10 minutes in 1915.

Compromise bills were written in cloakrooms as the Republicans jammed through the last of their legislative program. Democrats protested in vain that they could not even see copies of bills that were being passed, but the Republicans had to have the votes to put them through.

Adjournment was put off from hour to hour through the night, while House and Senate leaders met frequently in Martin's office. At first, housing and farm bills were "definitely out" and adjournment

West Germany Money Reform "Illegal," Red Commander Declares

U. S. Army Halts Rail Shipments To Berlin To Avoid Inspections

BERLIN, Monday, June 21, (AP)—Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, Soviet commander in Germany, denounced the Western Germany currency reform today as illegal. He warned the Western Powers not to introduce their new money into Berlin.

Sokolovsky said in a letter to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor for Germany, that "only one currency can circulate in Berlin, which is situated in the Soviet zone." The letter was made public early today.

Sokolovsky again accused the United States, Britain and France of "completing the division of Germany" by their currency reform.

He said he would "not accept your reference that bad conditions of Germany economy in the western zones is an excuse for your separate action in destroying the unity of Germany."

He charged that the currency reform was a violation of four-power agreements on Germany.

New Marks For Old

Currency reforms got under way yesterday as Germans in the American, British and French zones began exchanging new marks for old. The Russians claim they fear that Germans will smuggle the old marks into the Soviet zone, where the old reichsmark still is legal tender.

Last night the United States Army stopped sending supplies into Berlin by rail for the American population. The action was taken rather than submit the trains to Soviet inspection.

Sokolovsky's letter was in reply to a message from Clay that currency reform was being introduced in the western zones of Germany. Similar replies from the Russian were sent to the British and French commanders.

The Russian commander said the Western Allied action "places Soviet authorities in a difficult position and compels urgent measures to safeguard the economy of the Soviet zone."

This was an apparent reference to Soviet traffic controls undertaken in the last few days to seal off the Russian zone of Germany from the western zones.

One Currency For Berlin

In his letter to Clay Sokolovsky said:

"At the same time, I learn with satisfaction of your statement that the separate currency reform announced for the western zones will not be carried out in the American sector of Berlin. I take it for granted that only one currency will circulate in Berlin."

In halting land freight into Berlin, United States authorities pulled back a Berlin-bound freight train from the Soviet zone control point at Marienborn rather than permit the Russians to open its cars and inspect the cargo, American officials said.

If the rail freight stoppage continues, it will mean that 10,000 United States personnel in Berlin will have to be supplied by air.

A similar Russian demand for inspection stopped Allied passenger train service in April.

The Russians demanded the right of freight inspection under their new border control regulations. They claimed they put the new regulations into effect to stop currency smugglers from Western Germany.

Accord Reached By Westinghouse, Electrical Union

PITTSBURGH, June 20 (AP)—A new wage agreement was reached tonight between the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. It provides an eight per cent wage increase for 70,000 production and salaried employees.

A joint statement by W. O. Lippman, Westinghouse vice president, and James J. Matles, U. E. representative, said the agreement is subject to approval of the U. E. Westinghouse conference board and ratification by U. E. locals by July 1.

The agreement provides hourly employees with increases ranging from nine to 16 cents per hour, plus an additional paid holiday — Washington's Birthday — making a total of seven paid holidays.

Revision Of U. S. Foreign Policy Is All But Complete

Congress Accepts Russian Challenge

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—With approval of European aid funds and a peacetime draft, Congress virtually completed today a dramatic revision of American foreign policy to meet the world challenge of Soviet Russia.

The leaders of bi-partisan foreign policy, Secretary of State Marshall and Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), were obviously highly pleased. Congress was working in its final hours when it voted to provide substantially all the funds that it had originally authorized for the foreign aid program.

Had Been Worried

Marshall and Vandenberg had been worried lest a failure of the United States to make good on what Europe regarded as a clear-cut promise should knock the props from under the whole foreign policy they have been building for the past 18 months.

State Department officials predicted that the American government now would be able to press forward even more vigorously with its plans for the co-operative reconstruction of Europe, politically, economically and militarily.

Senate and House finished work on the $6,030,710,228 aid appropriation shortly after 1 o'clock, Washington time, this morning. The funds, if necessary, can all be spent within a 12-month period rather than the 15 months previously required by the House bill. The House vote was 319 to 62; Senate approval was by a voice vote.

"Constructive Work"

Vandenberg called the final action on the appropriation "a splendid piece of constructive work." He said it is "fundamentally related to the peace of the earth and of the destiny of America in a free world of free men."

Marshall said he could not comment in detail until he had studied the legislation, but "the important point it seems to me is the fact that the funds can, if necessary, be expended in the 12 months period as originally contemplated."

OVER THOUSAND CHINESE ARE REPORTED DROWNED

SHANGHAI, Monday, June 21 (AP)—More than 1,000 Chinese were reported today to have perished in a flood sweeping Foochow in coastal Fukien Province.

Chinese press reports said possibly 200,000 are homeless.

The rain-swollen Min River flooded the provincial capital Saturday and Sunday. A dispatch to the Shanghai newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported the heaviest loss of life was in Foochow's Kiangping Hotel, which collapsed while jammed with refugees. An estimated 500 of them were reported drowned.

Efforts to get messages through to the stricken city were fruitless.

Coal Board Opens Hearings Today

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—A three-man presidential inquiry board will open hearings on the coal contract dispute tomorrow afternoon (1 p. m. E.S.T.)

The board, headed by David L. Cole, Paterson, N. J., attorney, held an organizational meeting today and decided to ask John L. Lewis and coal operators to attend opening fact-finding sessions tomorrow.

The inquiry board must do a fast job because its report to President Truman is due Wednesday. The President must get the report before the government can ask for an injunction against a threatened coal strike.

Lewis refused to attend a similar Taft-Hartley law fact-finding board's meeting this spring. That was in the midst of the first 1948 stanza of the miner pension dispute.

But, since a court ordered Lewis to obey the board's summons then, he is expected to be on hand tomorrow. The board had had no replies tonight from any of those notified.

The pension argument is still the main barrier to writing a new coal agreement to succeed the contract expiring June 30.

However, Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough has promised to rule Tuesday in a case covering most of the legal pros and cons in the pension dispute.

Army May Draft 200,000 During First 12 Months

Gen. Bradley Believes Measure Is Adequate

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The Army probably will call between 200,000 and 225,000 inductees during the first 12 months of the new draft program, a highly placed official said today.

This will approximate roughly the estimated net loss to expiration of enlistments during that time. Should volunteer enlistments and re-enlistments keep up at somewhat near the present rate in the following 12 months, beginning about July 1, 1949, none or a comparatively few draftees might be required.

But in the year starting about July 1, 1950, new calls might have to be issued because the terms of the first draftees would begin to expire.

However, Army officials cautioned that much of the draft induction rate depends upon the volunteer enlistment situation.

The number of volunteers over and above the draft inductions apparently is depended upon to bring about the net increases for the armed forces to raise them to the newly planned strength.

The draft bill passed by Congress last night fixes the total strength for the military establishment at 2,005,882. The Army would be expanded to 837,000 from its present 548,000 strength; the Navy and Marines to 666,882 from 469,000 (of which the Navy part is 389,000); the Air Force to 502,000 from 382,000 (to operate 70 groups of planes).

Gen. Omar Bradley, Army chief of staff, said he believed the bill as passed was adequate. It provides for drafting of men 19 through 25 for 21 months service. No one could be drafted until 90 days after the bill becomes effective, which is as soon as President Truman signs it.

Because virtually all veterans will be exempted, the Army must plan on training the new groups of inductees from scratch, starting with basic training, then progressing into work with small units and finally with the big organizations.

While it would be possible to send men overseas as replacements immediately upon completion of basic training, many officers would prefer to bring them into work with units in this country first. However, divisions overseas can integrate individual trainees and give them the unit training necessary in the field.

Greeks Launch Drive To Break Red Revolt

70,000 Troops, Aided By Planes, Assaulting Guerrilla Stronghold

ATHENS, June 20 — (AP) — The Greek army threw six divisions, supported by artillery and air power, into the Northern Pindus Mountains tonight in an effort to break the back of the Communist revolution. It was estimated that more than 70,000 troups launched the greatest offensive of the civil war.

The troops are striking into the heart of the rebels' Grammos Mountain stronghold on the Albanian border. It is reported that 7,000 guerrillas are in a one thousand-mile square area which is dotted with mountain peaks rising more than 7,000 feet. The headquarters of Guerrila Leader Markos Vafiades and main rebel supply bases are reported to be in this pocket.

Three-Pronged Offensive

Greek soldiers sought to close in from three sides—on a line roughly from Albania's border to Ioannina, from Ioannina east to Grevena, and from Grevena north to Nestorion, also on the Albanian border.

The Albanian border forms the top of the big rebel "pocket."

Two of the Greek air force's three squadrons are supporting the offensive, which is being conducted over the roughest mountain terrain in Greece. A hundred pieces of artillery, largely American-made pack howitzers, are reported pounding fortified rebel positions in the approaches to Mount Grammos. Guerrilla headquarters and primary bases for all of Central Greece are in the zone being attacked, a responsible military authority said.

The offense "aims at the destruction of all bandit forces located in the Grammos area, constituting the main bandit group in Greece," the authoritative source said.

Planes Drop Leaflets

Three of the six divisions are assault forces pressing into Grammos Mountain points, while the other three were ordered to hold the flanks, forming a part of the offensive advance in great depth.

Greek air force planes dropped leaflets on guerrilla strongholds cautioning the rebels to surrender.

Leaflets showered down in the Northern Pindus area told the Communist-led guerrillas:

"The storm is coming. You are surrounded everywhere. Our new weapons are spreading death and destruction."

Some leaflets gave detailed instructions on how to surrender, others were safe conduct passes, telling Greek soldiers not to harm those surrendering and to conduct them to safe places.

Really Father's Day For Crooner Frankie Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD, June 20—(AP)—It was really Father's Day today for Crooner Frank Sinatra. His wife gave birth to a girl at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Mrs. Nancy Sinatra and the baby were described as "doing very nicely."

High Court Ruling On Labor Act Due

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The Supreme Court is expected to decide tomorrow whether labor unions may spend their money for political purposes in national elections.

The decision will have an important bearing on ambitious plans of unions for taking part in this year's presidential campaign.

The law question to be decided is the constitutionality of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act which bars labor organizations from contributing or spending union funds for or against a candidate in a federal election.

It was the first test case on any phase of the act to be argued before the justices. The case went before them on a government appeal from a District of Columbia Federal Court ruling that the ban is unconstitutional. The District Court said the ban abridges free speech, press and assembly.

The test was deliberately sought by the CIO and its president, Phil Murray. They ordered the distribution of CIO publications in a political race and the proceedings followed.

The Supreme Court also is expected to announce Monday whether it will rule later on validity of another section of the Taft-Hartley Act—the section requiring union officials to make affidavits that they are not Communists.

A special three-judge federal court here decided the section is valid.

20 Killed By Two Blasts In Jewish Quarter Of Cairo

41 Hurt; Explosions Believed Accidental

CAIRO, June 20—(AP)—Twenty persons were killed and 41 others wounded today by two heavy explosions in the Jewish quarter of Cairo's picturesque bazaar district. The blasts were believed to have been accidental detonations of fireworks explosives.

Police found the bodies of 18 persons in the wreckage of shattered houses. Two persons died later in hospitals.

The explosions occurred about 150 yards apart and within three minutes of each other. They destroyed five houses and damaged about 20 others.

Faulty Storage Blamed

Saleh Murtaga Bey, sub-chief of public security, said tonight investigations thus far indicated the blasts were accidental and were caused by faulty storage of materials used by Jews in the manufacture of fireworks and noise-making torpedoes.

Earlier the Egyptian government explored the possibility that the explosions were planned. Three hundred policemen surrounded the quarter. An Interior Ministry official said police arrested seven Jewish boys with a pushcart bearing an unattached time fuse and explosives. A police commander said two pushcarts loaded with unexploded gelignite were discovered.

Gelignite Not Fused

The Jewish boys, Murtaga Bey said, probably feared the gelignite would explode and were removing it or feared their establishment would be searched. He said the two loads were not intended to explode and were not fused. The boys, he added, were the only persons arrested in the investigation.

Murtaga Bey said guards reported that no one entered the district during the night, indicating explosives were not brought in from outside.

He said that although he was convinced the explosions were accidental, police still were making inquiries regarding five Moslems who lived in a Jewish-owned house where the first blast centered. Their bodies were not found among the ruins.

Delegation Will Keep Plugging For Sen. Martin

Dewey, Taft Make New Victory Claims On Eve Of Conclave

PHILADELPHIA, June 20—(AP)—The GOP mustered candidates and legions of delegates tonight for tomorrow's grand opening of the national convention. And the keystone Pennsylvania hosts kept them all guessing on the presidential race.

It still looked like a wide open affair that could go to any one of three, four or half a dozen hopefuls.

A Pennsylvania caucus left the top-flight contenders anxious and wondering. The state delegation, 73-votes strong and second in power only to New York, voted to keep plugging indefinitely for Sen. Edward Martin, a favorite son.

That is, 72 of the votes will go to Martin. Delegate Estras Howell, Scranton, said he has announced he is for Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, and "I am going to continue that stand."

Vandenberg still is in the dark horse category.

Several men who are out in the open with campaigns for the nomination hit town almost together today and promptly staked out new claims of victory.

"Yes," said Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, he expects to be nominated.

"I expect to make it," said Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

"Certainly," said Speaker Joseph W. Martin, he's willing to be President.

Warren Makes No Claim

Gov. Earl Warren, of California, said he wasn't joining in the claims. But he figured he would have a "fair opportunity" in a convention he says is "wide open."

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, has been forecasting all along that he'll be the nominee by the ninth ballot.

But whatever happens, a lot may depend on what Pennsylvania does after it stops voting for Martin.

Tonight's caucus brought up a resolution promising to support Martin only on the first ballot. The delegates changed it so they can keep on backing the Senator until they decide which way they want to swing.

The lone holdout for Vandenberg could be significant.

Gov. James H. Duff is chairman of the delegation and he is described by friends as liking Vandenberg. And it was a former law partner of the Governor who sponsored the "wait and see" amendment to the resolution.

This action came at a time when rumors — and they were strictly that—were rolling through the city to the effect that Vandenberg plans a dramatic arrival on the convention scene tomorrow.

These reports had it that Vandenberg backers have banners and buttons cached out and are ready to splatter them over the town when the Michigan Senator gives the signal.

There was a quick flurry of news conferences today when candidates

UMW-Teamster Political Differences Sharpened

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—A John L. Lewis union newspaper hurled sharp criticism today at Dan Tobin and his AFL teamsters union, to sharpen political differences between two of the nation's biggest labor groups.

A miners union publication, "The News," said the teamsters' boss was trying to blame Lewis for the Taft-Hartley Act to help elect President Truman.

"It certainly would appear," said the News, "that the 'non-political' presidential trip to the West, and Mr. Tobin's efforts to hang the blame for the Taft-Hartley Act on the United Mine Workers of America, have a common purpose—the election of Harry Truman."

The article in the Lewis union newspaper comes on the heels of these events:

1. Lewis and Tobin came to a parting of the ways at the AFL's convention last fall at San Francisco. Lewis wanted to resist the new labor law at every step; Tobin wanted to live up to it, but fight for its repeal. As a result Lewis took the miners out of the AFL.

2. Then Tobin, in a recent signed article in his union magazine, said the Taft-Hartley law never would have been "as bad as it is, in my judgment, were it not for the actions of some unions." In the same article, Tobin said big strikes like nationwide mine shutdowns hurt other labor unions and increase the possibility of "adverse labor legislation."

Tobin has for several presidential campaigns been chairman of the Democratic National Committee's labor committee. That post is still unfilled for 1948 but the Lewis newspaper spoke of Tobin as the man who will get it.

"As chairman of the Democratic labor committee this fall," said the News, "it will be Mr. Tobin's job to 'sell' labor on Harry Truman.

"And that is going to be no easy task."

Beall Says Government Will Retain "Shangri-La"

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP)—Rep. Beall (R-Md) said today the Catoctin recreation area will remain in federal hands as long as a President cares to use "Shangri-La," the hideaway in the Thurmont mountains.

The area includes some 10,000 acres, mostly in Frederick County.

Beall made the statement in a letter to the Hagerstown Morning Herald.

He said he had interested himself in obtaining the land for the state of Maryland.

2,400-Word Platform Is Drafted By Republicans

PHILADELPHIA, June 20—(INS)—The GOP resolutions drafting sub-committee approved unanimously today a 2,400-word platform and headed it toward a possible slam-bang fight before the committee as a whole.

The entire 104-member platform committee, which will meet tomorrow afternoon, must agree to the campaign policy statement before it is submitted to the GOP national convention, which opens tomorrow.

Sen. Lodge, Mass., chairman of both the drafting and full committees, described the platform as "broad enough for everyone to stand on."

His statement appeared to bear out reports that the foreign policy plank had been watered down by the drafting group to eliminate some passages objectionable to GOP non-interventionists.

Lodge asserted that the platform effectively rebuffs charges that the Republicans are adopting a "me too" foreign and civil rights program.

The drafting committee reportedly eliminated all reference to the Marshall Plan by name from the foreign policy plank in endorsing the general principle of aid to nations on the Democratic side of the "iron curtain."

It also was understood to have phrased with extreme caution a pledge of American aid to preserve the independence of other nations.

Indications that a battle might develop against any all-out international commitments which might jeopardize the peace or economic security of the United States arose as non-interventionist committeemen arrived in Philadelphia from Washington.

U. S. Army Halts Rail Shipments To Berlin To Avoid Inspections

BERLIN, Monday, June 21, (AP)—Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, Soviet commander in Germany, denounced the Western Germany currency reform today as illegal. He warned the Western Powers not to introduce their new money into Berlin.

Sokolovsky said in a letter to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor for Germany, that "only one currency can circulate in Berlin, which is situated in the Soviet zone." The letter was made public early today.

Sokolovsky again accused the United States, Britain and France of "completing the division of Germany" by their currency reform.

He said he would "not accept your reference that bad conditions of Germany economy in the western zones is an excuse for your separate action in destroying the unity of Germany."

He charged that the currency reform was a violation of four-power agreements on Germany.

New Marks For Old

Currency reforms got under way yesterday as Germans in the American, British and French zones began exchanging new marks for old. The Russians claim they fear that Germans will smuggle the old marks into the Soviet zone, where the old reichsmark still is legal tender.

Last night the United States Army stopped sending supplies into Berlin by rail for the American population. The action was taken rather than submit the trains to Soviet inspection.

Sokolovsky's letter was in reply to a message from Clay that currency reform was being introduced in the western zones of Germany. Similar replies from the Russian were sent to the British and French commanders.

The Russian commander said the Western Allied action "places Soviet authorities in a difficult position and compels urgent measures to safeguard the economy of the Soviet zone."

This was an apparent reference to Soviet traffic controls undertaken in the last few days to seal off the Russian zone of Germany from the western zones.

One Currency For Berlin

In his letter to Clay Sokolovsky said:

"At the same time, I learn with satisfaction of your statement that the separate currency reform announced for the western zones will not be carried out in the American sector of Berlin. I take it for granted that only one currency will circulate in Berlin."

In halting land freight into Berlin, United States authorities pulled back a Berlin-bound freight train from the Soviet zone control point at Marienborn rather than permit the Russians to open its cars and inspect the cargo, American officials said.

If the rail freight stoppage continues, it will mean that 10,000 United States personnel in Berlin will have to be supplied by air.

A similar Russian demand for inspection stopped Allied passenger train service in April.

Coal Board Opens Hearings Today

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—A three-man presidential inquiry board will open hearings on the coal contract dispute tomorrow afternoon (1 p. m. E.S.T.)

The board, headed by David L. Cole, Paterson, N. J., attorney, held an organizational meeting today and decided to ask John L. Lewis and coal operators to attend opening fact-finding sessions tomorrow.

The inquiry board must do a fast job because its report to President Truman is due Wednesday. The President must get the report before the government can ask for an injunction against a threatened coal strike.

Lewis refused to attend a similar Taft-Hartley law fact-finding board's meeting this spring. That was in the midst of the first 1948 stanza of the miner pension dispute.

But, since a court ordered Lewis to obey the board's summons then, he is expected to be on hand tomorrow. The board had had no replies tonight from any of those notified.

The pension argument is still the main barrier to writing a new coal agreement to succeed the contract expiring June 30.

However, Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough has promised to rule Tuesday in a case covering most of the legal pros and cons in the pension dispute.

Army May Draft 200,000 During First 12 Months

Gen. Bradley Believes Measure Is Adequate

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The Army probably will call between 200,000 and 225,000 inductees during the first 12 months of the new draft program, a highly placed official said today.

This will approximate roughly the estimated net loss to expiration of enlistments during that time. Should volunteer enlistments and re-enlistments keep up at somewhat near the present rate in the following 12 months, beginning about July 1, 1949, none or a comparatively few draftees might be required.

But in the year starting about July 1, 1950, new calls might have to be issued because the terms of the first draftees would begin to expire.

However, Army officials cautioned that much of the draft induction rate depends upon the volunteer enlistment situation.

The number of volunteers over and above the draft inductions apparently is depended upon to bring about the net increases for the armed forces to raise them to the newly planned strength.

The draft bill passed by Congress last night fixes the total strength for the military establishment at 2,005,882. The Army would be expanded to 837,000 from its present 548,000 strength; the Navy and Marines to 666,882 from 469,000 (of which the Navy part is 389,000); the Air Force to 502,000 from 382,000 (to operate 70 groups of planes).

Gen. Omar Bradley, Army chief of staff, said he believed the bill as passed was adequate. It provides for drafting of men 19 through 25 for 21 months service. No one could be drafted until 90 days after the bill becomes effective, which is as soon as President Truman signs it.

Because virtually all veterans will be exempted, the Army must plan on training the new groups of inductees from scratch, starting with basic training, then progressing into work with small units and finally with the big organizations.

While it would be possible to send men overseas as replacements immediately upon completion of basic training, many officers would prefer to bring them into work with units in this country first. However, divisions overseas can integrate individual trainees and give them the unit training necessary in the field.

Greeks Launch Drive To Break Red Revolt

70,000 Troops, Aided By Planes, Assaulting Guerrilla Stronghold

ATHENS, June 20 — (AP) — The Greek army threw six divisions, supported by artillery and air power, into the Northern Pindus Mountains tonight in an effort to break the back of the Communist revolution. It was estimated that more than 70,000 troops launched the greatest offensive of the civil war.

The troops are striking into the heart of the rebels' Grammos Mountain stronghold on the Albanian border. It is reported that 7,000 guerrillas are in a one thousand-mile square area which is dotted with mountain peaks rising more than 7,000 feet. The headquarters of Guerrila Leader Markos Vafiades and main rebel supply bases are reported to be in this pocket.

Three-Pronged Offensive

Greek soldiers sought to close in from three sides—on a line roughly from Albania's border to Ioannina, from Ioannina east to Grevena, and from Grevena north to Nestorion, also on the Albanian border.

The Albanian border forms the top of the big rebel "pocket."

Two of the Greek air force's three squadrons are supporting the offensive, which is being conducted over the roughest mountain terrain in Greece. A hundred pieces of artillery, largely American-made pack howitzers, are reported pounding fortified rebel positions in the approaches to Mount Grammos. Guerrilla headquarters and primary bases for all of Central Greece are in the zone being attacked, a responsible military authority said.

The offense "aims at the destruction of all bandit forces located in the Grammos area, constituting the main bandit group in Greece," the authoritative source said.

Planes Drop Leaflets

Three of the six divisions are assault forces pressing into Grammos Mountain points, while the other three were ordered to hold the flanks, forming a part of the offensive advance in great depth.

Greek air force planes dropped leaflets on guerrilla strongholds cautioning the rebels to surrender.

Leaflets showered down in the Northern Pindus area told the Communist-led guerrillas:

"The storm is coming. You are surrounded everywhere. Our new weapons are spreading death and destruction."

Some leaflets gave detailed instructions on how to surrender, others were safe conduct passes, telling Greek soldiers not to harm those surrendering and to conduct them to safe places.

Really Father's Day For Crooner Frankie Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD, June 20—(AP)—It was really Father's Day today for Crooner Frank Sinatra. His wife gave birth to a girl at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

The baby weighed eight pounds and 14 ounces and was named Christina.

Mrs. Nancy Sinatra and the baby were described as "doing very nicely."

High Court Ruling On Labor Act Due

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The Supreme Court is expected to decide tomorrow whether labor unions may spend their money for political purposes in national elections.

The decision will have an important bearing on ambitious plans of unions for taking part in this year's presidential campaign.

The law question to be decided is the constitutionality of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act which bars labor organizations from contributing or spending union funds for or against a candidate in a federal election.

It was the first test case on any phase of the act to be argued before the justices. The case went before them on a government appeal from a District of Columbia Federal Court ruling that the ban is unconstitutional. The District Court said the ban abridges free speech, press and assembly.

The test was deliberately sought by the CIO and its president, Phil Murray. They ordered the distribution of CIO publications in a political race and the proceedings followed.

The Supreme Court also is expected to announce Monday whether it will rule later on validity of another section of the Taft-Hartley Act—the section requiring union officials to make affidavits that they are not Communists.

A special three-judge federal court here decided the section is valid.

Beall Says Government Will Retain "Shangri-La"

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 20 (AP) —Rep. Beall (R-Md) said today the Catoctin recreation area will remain in federal hands as long as a President cares to use "Shangri-La," the hideaway in the Thurmont mountains.

The area includes some 10,000 acres, mostly in Frederick County.

Beall made the statement in a letter to the Hagerstown Morning Herald.

He said he had interested himself in obtaining the land for the state of Maryland.

20 Killed By Two Blasts In Jewish Quarter Of Cairo

41 Hurt; Explosions Believed Accidental

CAIRO, June 20—(AP)—Twenty persons were killed and 41 others wounded today by two heavy explosions in the Jewish quarter of Cairo's picturesque bazaar district. The blasts were believed to have been accidental detonations of fireworks explosives.

Police found the bodies of 18 persons in the wreckage of shattered houses. Two persons died later in hospitals.

The explosions occurred about 150 yards apart and within three minutes of each other. They destroyed five houses and damaged about 20 others.

Faulty Storage Blamed

Saleh Murtaga Bey, sub-chief of public security, said tonight investigations thus far indicated the blasts were accidental and were caused by faulty storage of materials used by Jews in the manufacture of fireworks and noise-making torpedoes.

Earlier the Egyptian government explored the possibility that the explosions were planned. Three hundred policemen surrounded the quarter. An Interior Ministry official said police arrested seven Jewish boys with a pushcart bearing an unattached time fuse and explosives. A police commander said two pushcarts loaded with unexploded gelignite were discovered.

Gelignite Not Fused

The Jewish boys, Murtaga Bey said, probably feared the gelignite would explode and were removing it or feared their establishment would be searched. He said the two loads were not intended to explode and were not fused. The boys, he added, were the only persons arrested in the investigation.

Murtaga Bey said guards reported that no one entered the district during the night, indicating explosives were not brought in from outside.

He said that although he was convinced the explosions were accidental, police still were making inquiries regarding five Moslems who lived in a Jewish-owned house where the first blast centered. Their bodies were not found among the ruins.

Delegation Will Keep Plugging For Sen. Martin

Dewey, Taft Make New Victory Claims On Eve Of Conclave

PHILADELPHIA, June 20—(AP)—The GOP mustered candidates and legions of delegates tonight for tomorrow's grand opening of the national convention. And the keystone Pennsylvania hosts kept them all guessing on the presidential race.

It still looked like a wide open affair that could go to any one of three, four or half a dozen hopefuls.

A Pennsylvania caucus left the top-flight contenders anxious and wondering. The state delegation, 72-votes strong and second in power only to New York, voted to keep plugging indefinitely for Sen. Edward Martin, a favorite son.

That is, 72 of the votes will go to Martin. Delegate Estras Howell, Scranton, said he has announced he is for Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, and "I am going to continue that stand."

Vandenberg still is in the dark horse category.

Several men who are out in the open with campaigns for the nomination hit town almost together today and promptly staked out new claims of victory.

"Yes," said Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, he expects to be nominated.

"I expect to make it," said Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

"Certainly," said Speaker Joseph W. Martin, he's willing to be President.

Warren Makes No Claim

Gov. Earl Warren, of California, said he wasn't joining in the claims. But he figured he would have a "fair opportunity" in a convention he says is "wide open."

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, has been forecasting all along that he'll be the nominee by the ninth ballot.

But whatever happens, a lot may depend on what Pennsylvania does after it stops voting for Martin.

Tonight's caucus brought up a resolution promising to support Martin only on the first ballot. The delegates changed it so they can keep on backing the Senator until they decide which way they want to swing.

The lone holdout for Vandenberg could be significant.

Gov. James H. Duff is chairman of the delegation and he is described by friends as liking Vandenberg. And it was a former law partner of the Governor who sponsored the "wait and see" amendment to the resolution.

This action came at a time when rumors — and they were strictly that—were rolling through the city to the effect that Vandenberg plans a dramatic arrival on the convention scene tomorrow.

These reports had it that Vandenberg backers have banners and buttons cached out and are ready to splatter them over the town when the Michigan Senator gives the signal.

There was a quick flurry of news conferences today when candidates

UMW-Teamster Political Differences Sharpened

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—A John L. Lewis union newspaper hurled sharp criticism today at Dan Tobin and his AFL teamsters union, to sharpen political differences between two of the nation's biggest labor groups.

A miners union publication, "The News," said the teamsters' boss was trying to blame Lewis for the Taft-Hartley Act to help elect President Truman.

"It certainly would appear," said the News, "that the 'non-political' presidential trip to the West, and Mr. Tobin's efforts to hang the blame for the Taft-Hartley Act on the United Mine Workers of America, have a common purpose—the election of Harry Truman."

The article in the Lewis union newspaper comes on the heels of these events:

1. Lewis and Tobin came to a parting of the ways at the AFL's convention last fall at San Francisco. Lewis wanted to resist the new labor law at every step; Tobin wanted to live up to it, but fight for its repeal. As a result Lewis took the miners out of the AFL.

2. Then Tobin, in a recent signed article in his union magazine, said the Taft-Hartley law never would have been "as bad as it is, in my judgment, were it not for the actions of some unions." In the same article, Tobin said big strikes like nationwide mine shutdowns hurt other labor unions and increase the possibility of "adverse labor legislation."

Tobin has for several presidential campaigns been chairman of the Democratic National Committee's labor committee. That post is still unfilled for 1948 but the Lewis newspaper spoke of Tobin as the man who will get it.

"As chairman of the Democratic labor committee this fall," said the News, "it will be Mr. Tobin's job to 'sell' labor on Harry Truman.

2,400-Word Platform Is Drafted By Republicans

PHILADELPHIA, June 20—(INS)—The GOP resolutions drafting sub-committee approved unanimously today a 2,400-word platform and headed it toward a possible slam-bang fight before the committee as a whole.

The entire 104-member platform committee, which will meet tomorrow afternoon, must agree to the campaign policy statement before it is submitted to the GOP national convention, which opens tomorrow.

Sen. Lodge, Mass., chairman of both the drafting and full committees, described the platform as "broad enough for everyone to stand on."

His statement appeared to bear out reports that the foreign policy plank had been watered down by the drafting group to eliminate some passages objectionable to GOP non-interventionists.

Lodge asserted that the platform effectively rebuffs charges that the Republicans are adopting a "me too" foreign and civil rights program.

The drafting committee reportedly eliminated all reference to the Marshall Plan by name from the foreign policy plank in endorsing the general principle of aid to nations on the Democratic side of the "iron curtain."

It also was understood to have phrased with extreme caution a pledge of American aid to preserve the independence of other nations.

Indications that a battle might develop against any all-out international commitments which might jeopardize the peace or economic security of the United States arose as non-interventionist committeemen arrived in Philadelphia from Washington.

County Asks Rent Suit Dismissal

A move to have dismissed State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris' petition that seeks to force the Board of County Commissioners to pay rent for his office space was made Saturday in Circuit Court.

Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the county board, asked the court to dismiss a petition filed by Harris which seeks a writ of mandamus and declaratory judgement to force the board to pay rent for quarters that the State's Attorney and his staff are occupying.

Harris brought legal action after renting space at 15 South Liberty Street which resulted in the Board of County Commissioners notifying the landlady, Mrs. Grace Fisher, that they would not be responsible for payment.

The State's Attorney contends that legislative acts give him the right to rent office space for his staff's use without the sanction of the county commissioners.

In his answer, Wilson states that for some years the commissioners provided offices at 111 Union Street in the county office building. The structure was rendered untenantable April 21 by fire.

Wilson stated that the county commissioners attempted to open quarters in the old Cumberland Street School and then in the Cumberland Free Public Library annex.

Later, however, Wilson stated, Harris informed the commissioners that he obtained space in the Liberty Street building at rental of $80 a month. The commissioners declined to pay the rent.

The county attorney said settlement of the dispute depends on the judicial interpretation of acts of the General Assembly which in effect directs the county to pay such essential expense of the office in question as may be in their opinion reasonable and proper.

Parent-Teacher Group Entertains With Picnic

FLINTSTONE—A picnic supper was served the members of the Flintstone Parent-Teachers Association at the school recently. The faculty, Wilton Syckes, the Smith triplets and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, parents of the trio, were honor guests.

Bradye Dolly, president of the group, was toastmaster. Accomplishments for the past year were discussed as well as goals for the coming year.

Kamp-Sebolt Wedding Announcement Is Made

GRANTSVILLE.—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kamp, near Grantsville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Martha Fern, to Cecil Edward Sebolt, Grantsville, June 13 at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride. The single ring ceremony was performed in candle light by Rev. Ira S. Moon, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church, New Germany.

The home was decorated with bouquets of snapdragons, gladioli and peonies. Mr. and Mrs. William Kamp, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, served as best man and matron of honor.

The bride was attired in a yellow gabardine suit with white accessories, and wore three strands of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. A corsage of orchids completed her costume. The matron of honor wore a sapphire blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Kamp, mother of the bride, wore a black flowered dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds. Mrs. Sebolt, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a black dress, with black accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Grantsville High School. Mr. Sebolt is in the Custom Feed Grinding business and farming with his father Emerson Sebolt.

A reception was held at the home where a buffet luncheon was served with the immediate family attending. A three tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom centered the table. Following a brief honeymoon to Niagara Falls, the newlyweds will reside with the groom's parents in Grantsville.

Miss Dorothy Seymour Weds Paul H. Huffman

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—On May 17, at 3:30 p. m., in the home of Rev. T. E. Richardson, Oldtown, Md., Miss Dorothy Burnell Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seymour, Fort Run, became the bride of Paul H. Huffman, son of Mrs. Nannie Huffman, Petersburg. Rev. Richardson performed the ceremony.

The bride, who attended Moorefield High School, wore a crepe dress with pink accessories. Her grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Wilson, was matron of honor.

The groom is a graduate of Petersburg High School. He served for two years in the United States Navy, 17 months overseas, as Yeoman third class. He was honorably discharged August 1947.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt in Oldtown.

Youngster Foils Attempt To Rob Liquor Store

An armed bandit was unsuccessful in his attempt to rob the Braddock Liquor Store, 160 Baltimore Street, Saturday night by eight-year-old Carl Dahl.

According to Kenneth Walker, clerk on duty at the store, the would-be bandit walked into the store with a drawn foreign-made pistol and ordered him to come from behind the counter. Charles Green, 118 Frederick Street, who was seated talking to Walker, was told to stand up.

When the bandit started to the cash register, Mrs. James O'Neal, 223 Baltimore Street, and Carl Dahl walked into the store, and when told to "come in," the boy rushed outside, followed by Mrs. O'Neal and the bandit who apparently knew he was foiled in his attempt.

The same store was entered on April 2, when $630 was taken. The case still remains unsolved, although a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction has been posted.

Used Car Dealer Nabbed Here On Larceny Count

Richard O. Upole, 40, a local used car dealer, was arrested by State Police officers on a charge of larceny preferred by Pittsburgh authorities. He is being held in county jail for return to the Pennsylvania city.

Upole was taken into custody by State Trooper William F. Baker on a bench warrant signed by Judge Henry X. O'Brien, Pittsburgh.

Baker said the bench warrant stated that Upole was indicted April 5 on a charge of larceny and that the complainant is Yola DeRose, Pittsburgh.

Wife's Plea Saves Man From Jail Term

Ira Stuckey, Corriganville, was saved from a jail sentence Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court by his wife after he had been arrested on a charge of assault.

Stuckey allegedly came home and struck his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Stuckey. In court though, Mrs. Stuckey told Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., that she was the mother of eight children. Bruce said he was putting Stuckey on his good behavior for a period of 90 days.

Maust's Cows Get May's High Record

OAKLAND—Elmer L. Maust's herd of 11 cows had the highest record for May in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 1 at Grantsville, with an average of 976 pounds of milk and 55.4 pounds of butterfat. Other four high herds were those of Lawrence Beitzel, C. O. Miller, Raymond Tice and Allen Maust.

Lawrence Beitzel was the owner of the two highest producing cows, one having 899 pounds of milk with butterfat content of 75.5, while the other had 1,597 pounds of milk and butterfat content of 73.4. One cow owned by C. O. Miller gave 2,071 pounds of milk but was eighth on the list with a butterfat content of 68.3.

Leslie J. Stanton, member, reported how the association had been the means of keeping an effective check on his herd, proving how many of the practices in dairying can be improved.

Farm Women Clubs Make Garden Tour

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Fifty members of Farm Women's clubs in Hardy County made a "garden tour" Thursday, the cavalcade of cars covering the entire county, to view especially beautiful gardens. Starting in Moorefield, the ladies went up the South Fork, where they viewed the landscaped gardens of Mrs. Joe Dasher, Mrs. Casper Dasher and the Dasher Sisters.

Returning to Moorefield, the club viewed the formal garden of Mrs. Curtic McCoy and after that the ladies proceeded across the mountain, stopping for a picnic lunch at "The Fountain," on the Wardensville road.

During the afternoon they were the guests of the management of Capon Springs Hotel, where tea was served by Mrs. Austin on the hotel veranda.

The last stop was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Beall in Wardensville, whose home and grounds are unique in that they are located on the river on the outskirts of Wardensville with rustic treatment of house and grounds emphasing the beauty of the river and the natural setting.

moved into the city.

Dewey told one he is counting on getting the first prize on the ticket on an "early" ballot.

Taft would not guess on what ballot the decision would be reached.

But these two top-flight contenders were in agreement on one thing—nothing will be settled the first time the roll is called.

And they had similar views, too, that there is no immediate necessity for another session of Congress to take over chores left hanging when the lawmakers quit work this morning.

Taft held his news conference a few minutes later at his campaign headquarters. For a while there was no certainty whether it was a news conference, a political rally, a circus or a movie production.

Sen. Taft spoke to a mob of yelping supporters in a hotel ballroom, was photographed for the movies, gingerly shook hands with the trunk of a baby elephant and finally began answering questions.

"No," he said right off, "I do not think it wil be necessary to call Congress back into session."

Then he switched to convention business and said he thinks he has "very good prospects of winning." He added:

"I think the race is largely between Dewey and myself but I think I have the better chance of winning."

Later he said he was not ruling out the possibility that somebody else might move up on the inside and seize the nomination.

Asked for comment on rumors that some sort of deal has been discussed with the forces of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, Taft said he had not conferred with Stassen and "no such bargain is in contemplation."

Passes Draft,

was "out of the question."

During the night, however, those words changed to "maybe" and "possible." At the last minute, the bills came to the floor, and adjournment was a fact.

Along with the foreign aid and farm legislation, these other major bills went through the mill in the last hours of the session:

Draft—A two-year bill to call men from 19 through 25 for 21 months' service. Most veterans will be exempt.

Housing — The government will provide a secondary market for GI home loan mortgages. The bill does not contain any slum clearance or low-income home building.

Federal employes—A pay boost of $450 a year for postal workers, and $330 a year for most other federal employes. It also calls for an increase to 15 cents for special delivery, putting air mail up to six cents, and hiking some other postal rates.

Atomic energy—A two-year term for Atomic Energy Commission members. President Truman had asked five years for Chairman David E. Lilienthal and staggered terms of one to four years for the other four.

Displaced persons—Permission for 205,000 homeless Europeans to enter this country in the next two years. Critics said restrictions were unfair to Jews and Catholics; backers denied this.

Business Takes Better Turn After Hesitating

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—Business has clearly taken a bigger and better turn after brief hesitation in early 1948, the Commerce Department reported today.

An upswing in spending and new orders placed with the factories during May and this month "marks the end of the period of temporary hesitation," a new department survey of business conditions said.

Stepped-up spending, it added, put a halt to the piling up in stocks of goods in the hands of business. Inventories had been showing a large increase in earlier months.

The rising clamor for goods also brought a renewal in the price advance and induced factories to pick up their production schedules, the report said.

Bodies Of Couple, Bound With Rope, Found In Lake

ELY, Vt., June 20—(AP) — The bodies of Wayne Taplin, 37, and Mrs. Blanche Pichette, 42—bound together with a rope and his arm around her neck—were found today in Lake Fairlee.

Orange County Sheriff L. T. Welch said he believes the pair leaped from a rowboat in a suicide pact after winding the rope around themselves.

An official verdict, however, will not be annohnced until after Dr. John Spelman, state pathologist, performs an autopsy.

Taplin was married and the father of three daughters, 12, 10 and six. Mrs. Pichette was married but childless.

The pair had been missing since June 12.

Maybe You're Too Young...

NEW BRIDE? Then you probably don't remember how American housewives helped relieve the desperate shortage of fats and oils during the war . . . simply by saving used fats. That shortage is still with us . . . still very serious, says the government. The one way you can help ease it today is by saving and turning in every drop of used fats.
Maybe You've Just Forgotten...
BEEN KEEPING HOUSE FOR YEARS? You may not realize that the grand job you did of saving fats during the war must still go on! Go back to your old salvage tricks again. Melt down meat trimmings. Skim gravies. You'll get lots more fat! Re-use it, if you wish. But even after that, there's always something left to save! Pays you cash, you know . . . the only kitchen waste product that does. And how cash helps on today's grocery bills!

USED FATS ARE STILL NEEDED — KEEP TURNING THEM IN!

County Asks Rent Suit Dismissal

A move to have dismissed State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris' petition that seeks to force the Board of County Commissioners to pay rent for his office space was made Saturday in Circuit Court.

Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the county board, asked the court to dismiss a petition filed by Harris which seeks a writ of mandamus and declaratory judgement to force the board to pay rent for quarters that the State's Attorney and his staff are occupying.

Harris brought legal action after renting space at 15 South Liberty Street which resulted in the Board of County Commissioners notifying the landlady, Mrs. Grace Fisher, that they would not be responsible for payment.

The State's Attorney contends that legislative acts give him the right to rent office space for his staff's use without the sanction of the county commissioners.

In his answer, Wilson states that for some years the commissioners provided offices at 111 Union Street in the county office building. The structure was rendered untenantable April 21 by fire.

Wilson stated that the county commissioners attempted to open quarters in the old Cumberland Street School and then in the Cumberland Free Public Library annex.

Later, however, Wilson stated, Harris informed the commissioners that he obtained space in the Liberty Street building at rental of $80 a month. The commissioners declined to pay the rent.

The county attorney said settlement of the dispute depends on the judicial interpretation of acts of the General Assembly which in effect directs the county to pay such essential expense of the office in question as may be in their opinion reasonable and proper.

Parent-Teacher Group Entertains With Picnic

FLINTSTONE—A picnic supper was served the members of the Flintstone Parent-Teachers Association at the school recently. The faculty, Wilton Sykes, the Smith triplets and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, parents of the trio, were honor guests.

Bradye Dolly, president of the group, was toastmaster. Accomplishments for the past year were discussed as well as goals for the coming year.

Kamp-Sebolt Wedding Announcement Is Made

GRANTSVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kamp, near Grantsville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Martha Fern, to Cecil Edward Sebolt, Grantsville, June 13 at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride. The single ring ceremony was performed in candle light by Rev. Ira S. Moon, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church, New Germany.

The home was decorated with bouquets of snapdragons, gladioli and peonies. Mr. and Mrs. William Kamp, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, served as best man and matron of honor.

The bride was attired in a yellow gabardine suit with white accessories, and wore three strands of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. A corsage of orchids completed her costume. The matron of honor wore a sapphire blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Kamp, mother of the bride, wore a black flowered dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds. Mrs. Sebolt, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a black dress, with black accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Grantsville High School. Mr. Sebolt is in the Custom Feed Grinding business and farming with his father Emerson Sebolt.

A reception was held at the home where a buffet luncheon was served with the immediate family attending. A three tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom centered the table. Following a brief honeymoon to Niagara Falls, the newlyweds will reside with the groom's parents in Grantsville.

Miss Dorothy Seymour Weds Paul H. Huffman

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—On May 17, at 3:30 p. m., in the home of Rev. T. E. Richardson, Oldtown, Md., Miss Dorothy Burnell Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seymour, Fort Run, became the bride of Paul H. Huffman, son of Mrs. Nannie Huffman, Petersburg. Rev. Richardson performed the ceremony.

The bride, who attended Moorefield High School, wore a crepe dress with pink accessories. Her grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Wilson, was matron of honor.

The groom is a graduate of Petersburg High School. He served for two years in the United States Navy, 17 months overseas, as Yeoman third class. He was honorably discharged August 1947.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt in Oldtown.

Youngster Foils Attempt To Rob Liquor Store

An armed bandit was unsuccessful in his attempt to rob the Braddock Liquor Store, 160 Baltimore Street, Saturday night by eight-year-old Carl Dahl.

According to Kenneth Walker, clerk on duty at the store, the would-be bandit walked into the store with a drawn foreign-made pistol and ordered him to come from behind the counter. Charles Green, 118 Frederick Street, who was seated talking to Walker, was told to stand up.

When the bandit started to the cash register, Mrs. James O'Neal, 223 Baltimore Street, and Carl Dahl walked into the store, and when told to "come in," the boy rushed outside, followed by Mrs. O'Neal and the bandit who apparently knew he was foiled in his attempt.

The same store was entered on April 2, when $630 was taken. The case still remains unsolved, although a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction has been posted.

Used Car Dealer Nabbed Here On Larceny Count

Richard O. Upole, 40, a local used car dealer, was arrested by State Police officers on a charge of larceny preferred by Pittsburgh authorities. He is being held in county jail for return to the Pennsylvania city.

Upole was taken into custody by State Trooper William F. Baker on a bench warrant signed by Judge Henry X. O'Brien, Pittsburgh.

Baker said the bench warrant stated that Upole was indicted April 5 on a charge of larceny and that the complainant is Yola DeRose, Pittsburgh.

Wife's Plea Saves Man From Jail Term

Ira Stuckey, Corriganville, was saved from a jail sentence Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court by his wife after he had been arrested on a charge of assault.

Stuckey allegedly came home and struck his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Stuckey. In court though, Mrs. Stuckey told Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., that she was the mother of eight children. Bruce said he was putting Stuckey on his good behavior for a period of 90 days.

Mausl's Cows Get May's High Record

OAKLAND—Elmer L. Maust's herd of 11 cows had the highest record for May in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 1 at Grantsville, with an average of 976 pounds of milk and 55.4 pounds of butterfat. Other four high herds were those of Lawrence Beitzel, C. O. Miller, Raymond Tice and Allen Maust.

Lawrence Beitzel was the owner of the two highest producing cows, one having 899 pounds of milk with butterfat content of 75.5, while the other had 1,597 pounds of milk and butterfat content of 73.4. One cow owned by C. O. Miller gave 2,071 pounds of milk but was eighth on the list with a butterfat content of 68.3.

Leslie J. Stanton, member, reported how the association had been the means of keeping an effective check on his herd, proving how many of the practices in dairying can be improved.

The show tonight will be preceded by a street parade at 7 p. m. in downtown Cumberland and to the auditorium, with each entry riding in an open car.

Farm Women Clubs Make Garden Tour

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Fifty members of Farm Women's clubs in Hardy County made a "garden tour" Thursday, the cavalcade of cars covering the entire county, to view especially beautiful gardens. Starting in Moorefield, the ladies went up the South Fork, where they viewed the landscaped gardens of Mrs. Joe Dasher, Mrs. Casper Dasher and the Dasher Sisters.

Returning to Moorefield, the club viewed the formal garden of Mrs. Curtic McCoy and after that the ladies proceeded across the mountain, stopping for a picnic lunch at "The Fountain," on the Wardensville road.

During the afternoon they were the guests of the management of Capon Springs Hotel, where tea was served by Mrs. Austin on the hotel veranda.

The last stop was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Beall in Wardensville, whose home and grounds are unique in that they are located on the river on the outskirts of Wardensville with rustic treatment of house and grounds emphasing the beauty of the river and the natural setting.

Former Residents Here Injured In Auto Mishap

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Brotemarkle, former residents of Cumberland are in the Johnstown, Pa., Memorial Hospital with injuries suffered in an automobile accident late last week near Johnstown.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Brotemarkle has a fractured back and is in a serious condition. Her husband was believed to have a fractured nose and a possible fractured ankle.

Engagement Revealed

KEYSER—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith, Antioch, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Pauline Smith Sperling to Floyd Wilt Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cunningham, Elkins.

Mrs. Sperling is a secretary in the Keyser office of the Cunningham Welding Service. Mr. Cunningham is owner of the Cunningham Welding Service in Keyser and Elkins. A date has not been set for the wedding.

moved into the city.

Dewey told one he is counting on getting the first prize on the ticket on an "early" ballot.

Taft would not guess on what ballot the decision would be reached.

But these two top-flight contenders were in agreement on one thing—nothing will be settled the first time the roll is called.

And they had similar views, too, that there is no immediate necessity for another session of Congress to take over chores left hanging when the lawmakers quit work this morning.

Taft held his news conference a few minutes later at his campaign headquarters. For a while there was no certainty whether it was a news conference, a political rally, a circus or a movie production.

Sen. Taft spoke to a mob of yelping supporters in a hotel ballroom, was photographed for the movies, gingerly shook hands with the trunk of a baby elephant and finally began answering questions.

"No," he said right off, "I do not think it wil be necessary to call Congress back into session."

Then he switched to convention business and said he thinks he has "very good prospects of winning." He added:

"I think the race is largely between Dewey and myself but I think I have the better chance of winning."

Later he said he was not ruling out the possibility that somebody else might move up on the inside and seize the nomination.

Asked for comment on rumors that some sort of deal has been discussed with the forces of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, Taft said he had not conferred with Stassen and "no such bargain is in contemplation."

Passes Draft,

was "out of the question."

During the night, however, those words changed to "maybe" and "possible." At the last minute, the bills came to the floor, and adjournment was a fact.

Along with the foreign aid and farm legislation, these other major bills went through the mill in the last hours of the session:

Draft—A two-year bill to call men from 19 through 25 for 21 months' service. Most veterans will be exempt.

Housing — The government will provide a secondary market for GI home loan mortgages. The bill does not contain any slum clearance or low-income home building.

Federal employes—A pay boost of $450 a year for postal workers, and $330 a year for most other federal employes. It also calls for an increase to 15 cents for special delivery, putting air mail up to six cents, and hiking some other postal rates.

Atomic energy—A two-year term for Atomic Energy Commission members. President Truman had asked five years for Chairman David E. Lilienthal and staggered terms of one to four years for the other four.

Displaced persons—Permission for 205,000 homeless Europeans to enter this country in the next two years. Critics said restrictions were unfair to Jews and Catholics; backers denied this.

Three Die In Auto Crash Near West Hamlin, W. Va.

WEST HAMLIN, W. Va., June 20 (AP)—Three persons were killed tonight and an unknown number injured in a head-on automobile collision near here, state police reported.

The accident occurred at 7:30 p. m. on State Route 10 at Ranger, Lincoln County.

Officials at the McGhee Funeral Home identified the dead as:

Willard Workman, 41, believed to be a minister and an employe of the Island Creek Coal Company, Whitman, Lincoln County; Mrs. Willard Workman, his wife, and Millard Brunty, 60, Branchland.

Sen. Tydings Commends Election Contest Probers

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP) — Republican congressmen, says Sen. Tydings (D-Md), acted fairly and impartially in deciding an election contest in favor of Democratic Sen. O'Conor, of Maryland.

He congratulated his GOP colleagues and singled out Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), for special commendation. Jenner was chairman of a subcommittee which investigated the contest filed by the Republican senatorial candidate, D. John Markey.

XS-1 Pilot Flew Plane Higher Than Any Other

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 20 (AP)—The man who first flew faster than sound said today his plane also has gone higher than any other.

The Charleston Gazette quoted Capt. Charles E. Yeager that "we don't try to claim any records for the XS-1, however, since it is dropped from the belly of a B-29 and does not actually take off from the ground."

Business Takes Better Turn After Hesitating

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—Business has clearly taken a bigger and better turn after brief hesitation in early 1948, the Commerce Department reported today.

An upswing in spending and new orders placed with the factories during May and this month "marks the end of the period of temporary hesitation," a new department survey of business conditions said.

Stepped-up spending, it added, put a halt to the piling up in stocks of goods in the hands of business. Inventories had been showing a large increase in earlier months.

The rising clamor for goods also brought a renewal in the price advance and induced factories to pick up their production schedules, the report said.

Bodies Of Couple, Bound With Rope, Found In Lake

ELY, Vt., June 20—(AP) — The bodies of Wayne Taplin, 37, and Mrs. Blanche Pichette, 42—bound together with a rope and his arm around her neck—were found today in Lake Fairlee.

Orange County Sheriff L. T. Welch said he believes the pair leaped from a rowboat in a suicide pact after winding the rope around themselves.

An official verdict, however, will not be annohnced until after Dr. John Spelman, state pathologist, performs an autopsy.

Taplin was married and the father of three daughters, 12, 10 and six. Mrs. Pichette was married but childless.

The pair had been missing since June 12.

Maybe You're Too Young...

NEW BRIDE? Then you probably don't remember how American housewives helped relieve the desperate shortage of fats and oils during the war . . . simply by saving used fats. That shortage is still with us . . . still very serious, says the government. The one way you can help ease it today is by saving and turning in every drop of used fats.

Maybe You've Just Forgotten...

BEEN KEEPING HOUSE FOR YEARS? You may not realize that the grand job you did of saving fats during the war must still go on! Go back to your old salvage tricks again. Melt down meat trimmings. Skim gravies. You'll get lots more fat! Re-use it, if you wish. But even after that, there's always something left to save! Pays you cash, you know . . . the only kitchen waste product that does. And how cash helps on today's grocery bills!

USED FATS ARE STILL NEEDED — KEEP TURNING THEM IN!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I was munching a hot cake at Lindy's the other night when Hollywood's fattest agent walked in.

"Greetings, Slim," I said. "Have a mug of mocha and tell me what you're doing so far from home plate."

Billy Rose

The agent deposited his 260 pounds of solid flat on a chair. "Every June I come East and try to persuade Katharine Cornell to make a movie," he said.

"Don't you get discouraged?" I asked.

"How can one become discouraged in a town filled with such lovely pastrami?" said the ten-per-center.

I wigwagged a waiter and told him to drag out the spiced cow on rye. "What's the big news on the Coast?" I asked.

"Things are quiet," said the agent, "except in Glendale where a director keeps chucking rocks through the windows of a well-known English actor."

"Give it to me pane-by-pane," I said.

"Well," said the agent, "I'll have to unwind this one backwards. You probably remember Stan Allen. He's been making pictures since the days when Jesse Lasky was shooting them in a barn. Steady Stan, they called him — always the careful planner. At home he collected meerchaums and worked out an hour a day in his private gym. Never boozed, never chased—pillar of society stuff. All of us used to wonder how such a sobersides held on to a fun-loving gal like his wife, Kitty.

"A couple of years before the war, Stan's studio imported a juvenile from England. He was one of those ruddy-cheeked broomsticks who can serve themselves kippers at a hunt breakfast without looking ridiculous.

"Stan took a shine to him and used him in a couple of movies. The kid gave a good account of himself and after awhile it became one of those actor-director combinations.

"About eleven one night, the juvenile showed up on the lawn of Stan's home in Beverly Hills and began heaving rocks through his windows. Stan was going to go out and bust him one, but his wife said the kid was drunk and not to bother him.

"Next day the actor was as apologetic as a Japanese pickpocket. He said he had tucked away one Martini too many and promised it wouldn't happen again.

"But a couple of night later, he was back on the lawn, and this time his aim was even better. Stan ran out, grabbed the Englishman by his well-bred neck and dragged him into the gym. There he put on a pair of eight-ounce gloves and beat him black, blue, sober and contrite. Of course he was careful not to damage that profitable profile.

"While the juvenile was coming to, Stan's wife opened the gym door. She took one look at the thoroughly larruped Londoner and began berating her husband.

"Of course you know what happened. That night the wife rubbed eau de cologne into the juvenile's puffy chest. Next day the actor phoned Kitty and apologized for the rocks. Kitty apologized for her husband. Six months later she divorced Stan and married the actor.

"The director took it hard. The Limehouse Kid had not only broken up his windows and his home, he had also shattered his confidence in the well-ordered life. The next two films Stan did were fair, but the two after that were duds. Finally he went back East with all his banners dragging.

"Around that time the war started, and before you could say 'Cecil B. de Mille,' Stan had gotten himself commissioned a Signal Corps major in a combat photography section. He served in Africa, Italy and France. Then he spent a couple of years with the occupation froces in the Far East. This Spring he was discharged and came back to Hollywood.

"We hardly knew him. Steady Sam had become Will the Wack. I could have gotten him a job directing a feature, but no, he wants to make experimental shorts—the kind that don't make a quarter.

"The nicest thing about Stan's comeback is the way he spends his evenings. Every night he gets a few snifters under his belt and taxis out to Glendale where Mr. and Mrs. Juvenile are living. It's a large and expensive house—the Britisher had a punctured eardrum and did all right for himself during the war. There are plenty of windows and a rock garden in front of the glassed-in porch, and Stan has himself quite a time."

"What's the moral of this frenzied fable?" I inquired. "That the path of true love is sometimes as rocky as Graziano?"

"Don't you get it?" chuckled the agent. "The juvenile doesn't dare call the cops because he's a big star now and doesn't want his rancid romance smeared all over the papers."

"Does Stan figure history will repeat and he'll get his wife back the way he lost her?" I asked.

"It's my theory," said the agent, "that Stan is chucking rocks for two different reasons. He's hoping the actor will get mad and pick a fight with him, at which time he will readjust his classic profile and make him switch from juvenile leads to character parts."

"What's reason number two?" I asked.

The agent delicately patted his lips with his napkin. "As an old East Side kid, you ought to know," he said. "Stan has discovered how much fun it is to throw a rock and to hear the glass go tinkle, tinkle, tinkle . . ."

Naval Reservists May Have Active Sea Duty

Fifth Naval District officials have announced that temporary active duty is available to members of the Naval Reserve until September 15.

Reservists who hold the desired rates and are selected for duty will be used to augment the crew of the USS Burke, APD-65, which will be engaged in reserve training and will visit New York, Boston and Bermuda. The Burke will operate out of Norfolk.

Machinist's mates, water-tenders and electrician's mates from first class to third class are needed, besides non-rated firemen and firemen apprentices. They will receive full pay and allowance, including sea pay.

Reservists who wish to apply for duty may address their requests to their commanding officer if they are members of an organized unit. Volunteer reservists should address requests to the Commandant, Fifth Naval District, Director of Training, Naval Base, Norfolk, Va. The reservist must include a statement that he will remain on active duty until September 15.

SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter

"Not too snazzy, perhaps . . . but just listen to all that CHARACTER!"

The progress of the Amcelle plant in the last thirty years is not a matter of accident. It is the result of good planning, good teamwork on the part of all of our employees, and working together for the good of the community.

Celanese and Cumberland have grown and developed together since the early days in 1918 when the outlines of the original plant were staked out in a cornfield on the banks of the Potomac. Today, Cumberland has achieved high standing among the important industrial centers of Maryland, ranked only by Baltimore. Today, Cumberland boasts of seventeen major industries, employing an average of approximately 19,000 men and women in 1947.

The Amcelle plant has grown too, many times its original size. Employment has steadily increased so that in 1947 out of the total employment of 19,000 in the Cumberland area, more than half of this number were in the employ of the Celanese Amcelle plant. It is significant that this growth continued throughout the tough days of the 1930's when so many industries found it rough sledding and were forced to lay off large numbers of their employees.

The record of the Amcelle plant is one in which the community and Celanese can take pride equally. Thanks to this good team work between the community and the plant and the employees, today more than 10,000 men and women are working together at Amcelle—helping the plant continue to progress and in turn playing a major part in the economic life of Cumberland. That's why one hears it said so often: "Cumberland is a good place to live and Celanese is a good place to work."

Naval Reservists May Have Active Sea Duty

Fifth Naval District officials have announced that temporary active duty is available to members of the Naval Reserve until September 15.

Reservists who hold the desired rates and are selected for duty will be used to augment the crew of the USS Burke, APD-65, which will be engaged in reserve training and will visit New York, Boston and Bermuda. The Burke will operate out of Norfolk.

Machinist's mates, water-tenders and electrician's mates from first class to third class are needed, besides non-rated firemen and firemen apprentices. They will receive full pay and allowance, including sea pay.

The progress of the Amcelle plant in the last thirty years is not a matter of accident. It is the result of good planning, good teamwork on the part of all of our employees, and working together for the good of the community.

Celanese and Cumberland have grown and developed together since the early days in 1918 when the outlines of the original plant were staked out in a cornfield on the banks of the Potomac. Today, Cumberland has achieved high standing among the important industrial centers of Maryland, ranked only by Baltimore. Today, Cumberland boasts of seventeen major industries, employing an average of approximately 19,000 men and women in 1947.

The Amcelle plant has grown too, many times its original size. Employment has steadily increased so that in 1947 out of the total employment of 19,000 in the Cumberland area, more than half of this number were in the employ of the Celanese Amcelle plant. It is significant that this growth continued throughout the tough days of the 1930's when so many industries found it rough sledding and were forced to lay off large numbers of their employees.

The record of the Amcelle plant is one in which the community and Celanese can take pride equally. Thanks to this good team work between the community and the plant and the employees, today more than 10,000 men and women are working together at Amcelle—helping the plant continue to progress and in turn playing a major part in the economic life of Cumberland. That's why one hears it said so often: "Cumberland is a good place to live and Celanese is a good place to work."

Republican Convention Opens In Philadelphia

When the official gavel bangs down today, Philadelphia will be playing host to its fifth Republican convention. The first Republican convention anywhere was held there in 1856, when the amalgam of former Whigs, Agrarians, Abolitionists and northern Democrats irked by the influence of slave-owners over the party of Jefferson and Jackson met to nominate John C. Fremont. That first Philadelphia nominee lost, and so did the last one—Willkie, in 1940. But the two other Philadelphia-named men, Grant and McKinley, both won. There is considerably better than even chance that this batting average of .500 will be improved upon in 1948.

For statistically-minded delegates, it may be pointed out that five of the seventeen Republican nominees to date—six of them were named twice—were sons of Ohio. New York is runner-up with three. The average age of nominees in the past was just under 50. The youngest was Dewey, at 42. The oldest were Blaine, Hughes and Harding, each at 54. On fifteen occasions only one ballot has been required to name the party choice. Once—for Garfield—the weary delegates rolled up the astronomic total of 36.

Philadelphia is putting on its best front for the event this week. The wood trim on Independence Hall has a new coat of paint and the Convention Hall has—so it is reported—a new and workable air-conditioning system. The more than 1,000 delegates are hopeful that Philadelphia will live up to its reputation as the City of Brotherly Love. At any rate, there will not be a repitition of the gallery clacque of 1940.

The convention is being covered by the largest corps of newspapermen in the nation's history. A full complement of radio mouthpieces is also there. There are 1,200 reporters on the job representing newspapers in this country and abroad, plus 500 photographers. Scores of others are taking care of radio broadcasts. The Cumberland News is being represented for first-hand coverage by David Lawrence, Drew Pearson, Charles E. Sokolsky and Joseph Alsop, to name a few.

More than 1600 special telephones have been installed and 120 telegraph circuits have a capacity of 5,000 words a minute to help bring convention information to the readers of this newspaper.

Press boxes surrounding the speakers' table accommodate 800 workers, and facilities for the remainder have been set up in the basement of the convention hall. The proceedings will be sent out by television. In addition, much of the proceedings will be recorded, later to be edited and rebroadcast.

Politics has become big business in this country. The two conventions will cost millions of dollars. The Republican National Committee will spend $5,000 a day for music alone, which could develop into a sizeable item if there is a deadlock.

The 1948 convention—like all those that have preceded it—is looked upon as the most important in the nation's history, and newspaper coverage will be superb.

After see-sawing up and down for months, the wheat crop forecast has finally stopped at normal, which is as good a hedge as any.

Truman's Tactics Amount To Public Interest Sabotage

It is a national misfortune that President Truman concluded the only way he can garner votes — or even assure his nomination at Philadelphia — was to pick daily quarrels with Congress during his political junket. If this campaign were confined to those cheap and cocky diatribes which were delivered from the back platform of his train, the only result would be to lower the dignity of Mr. Truman's office. But he also obstructed the work of Congress by repeated vetoes, often on flimsy grounds.

In the last crowded legislative week, Mr. Truman vetoed three bills, including the appropriation for the Social Security Administration. This brings the total of vetoes during the current session to 29.

Back in January, 1947, Mr. Truman pledged his co-operation with the Republican Congress elected by the people. For a time he did co-operate, and Congress worked along with him. The present bi-partisan foreign policy in Congress is well-nigh unique in American peacetime history. When his political stock began to fall and Henry Wallace entered the field, to lure away the more leftist of the Roosevelt following, someone persuaded Mr. Truman that his only chance to win in '48 was to outdo the New Deal demogogy. Hence the speaking tour—at the public expense — which ended at Baltimore Friday, with its violent and silly attacks on Congress as "the friend of special privilege."

It's bad enough at any time for a President to treat Congress as a political whipping-boy. But when this is done at the close of a crowded session, with a number of vital matters pending, it amounts to sabotage of the public interest. Congress has done a prodiguous amount of work, in day and night sessions, while the President was wise-cracking in the West. The only comment on this, delivered at Albuquerque, was, "They've got the jitters back there. They have gone to work."

Few congresses in our history have done more constructive work than the one now in session. And this has been done despite the obstructions of a President who has conducted himself largely like a man still under the wing of Boss Ed Pendergast.

Thirty million cars are using streets in American cities, and a hundred million pedestrians are trying to use them.

Report From Greece

Not much has been heard about Greece lately, which may be an indication that affairs are in at least fairly good order over there and that the Greeks are getting the best of the communist guerillas.

Lending support to this thesis is the report by Dwight P. Griswold, chief of the United States Mission to Greece, who has come home for a brief vacation and for a discussion of the whole situation. According to Griswold, communism "is stopped" in Greece, even though there is still much fighting going on.

Particularly encouraging is the statement by Griswold that 85 to 90 per cent of the Greeks are now anti-communist. No less reassuring is his declaration that the Greek army is "doing a very good job." There has been some doubt on this point and many Americans still hold the belief that the Greek military forces are merely going through the motions.

KEEP WELL HOW TO

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Factors In Motion Sickness

Many plane or ship passengers become ill if the weather is rough. We all vary in this respect as some develop symptoms more quickly than others. During the war, preventive measures were studied in great detail because survival depended upon the well being of the men while traveling. This information has now been passed on to us even though in peace time, motion sickness is more annoying and embarrassing than serious.

The signs of air or seasickness are unmsitakable. A passenger, who seems to be enjoying himself, suddenly becomes quiet and subdued. He feels nauseated and saliva begins to collect in his mouth. The skin turns cold and pale; beads of perspiration gather on the brow. Then comes that uncontrollable desire to upchuck, with a resultant hasty retreat to the ship's rail or the rear of the plane.

The extremely susceptible were apparently born that way and as children had difficulty riding in automobiles or on street cars. Even on ferry boats they were poor sailors. In others, psychological factors play a role; on boarding a plane they expect to become ill and frequently do. Some have had a past experience along this line while riding the gadgets in amusement parks. The emotions are important also as nausea and vomiting are more likely to occur in the presence of apprehension, fear, or any other psychic disturbance.

In the majority of victims, discomfort arises because the body cannot adjust to the pitching and see-saw movements. The vestibular apparatus in the ear is the basis of trouble. Normally, it helps to maintain our balance and whenever it it is not functioning properly, we become dizzy and nauseated. Should the plane suddenly go up and down or rotate, this mechanism cannot keep up with the movements; and if they continue, it ultimately rebels. This occurs in some after a brief exposure to rough weather; others require a longer period. The vibrations of the plane often quicken the process and the same can be said if ventilation is poor or unpleasant odors exist. There is a limit to how much can be tolerated and we have all heard people describe trips in which every one was affected except perhaps the captain or pilot.

By holding the eyes still or focusing on a distant point, the sensation can often be averted. An abdominal belt or support also helps. Those who are apprehensive or psychologically predisposed to motion sickness are aided by sedatives. The better remedies usually contain belladonna, atropine, niacin, hyoscine, or hyoscyamine. The two latter drugs have proved more successful, used either indivadually or in combination. The National research council of Canada recommends the addition thereto of thiobarbiturate. The first dose of any product is generally taken two to four hours before departure; the effect lasts from eight to twelve hours as a rule and, at the end of this period, another dose is required.

NOISY BREATHING

R. S. writes: What would cause a gurgling sound in the throat after going to sleep? Could it be asthma?

Reply

Probably mucus moving up and down in the windpipe with each breath. If differs from asthma because victims of this disorder wheeze with each expiration.

ORTHOPEDIC TREATMENT

H. E. writes: What is the stretching treatment of arthritis?

Reply

When certain joints are involved, such as the knees, hips, or spine, weights are sometimes attached to the extremities or head, with the individual lying in bed. This encourages relaxation of the surrounding tissues which, in turn, eases distress.

CYSTITIS

A. N. writes: What diet is recommended in inflamation of the bladder?

Reply

Diet is not too important except when certain medications are used. However, spices and alcoholic beverages are prohibited because of their irritating effect.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Well, my radio season is over. The season is over. That's an old radio expression meaning "Now let the hens do the work".

Yes, sir, here I am finishing my 10th year on the air. And the police say there's no such thing as a perfect crime.

Even though all the big shows are ending their season radio listeners will still be getting just as many laughs this summer. For every comedian going off the air, there's a candidate coming on.

Radio is really wonderful. Now they're selling things backward. Before the people even know what "Laroo Lilly Valero" means frontwards.

I won't say I'm tired after 39 weeks on the air, but I'm the only guy in radio who has to get his cereal adrenalin-dipped.

My writers are all in the Mayo Clinic. I know they're in the Mayo Clinic. This morning a famous doctor took out an appendix and he turned to the nurse and said "a funny thing happened to me on the way to the opening."

Dark-Horse Gov. Warren Is Republican Party's Ablest Candidate; Republicans Would Pull Large Bloc Of Democratic Votes Under Warren

Says DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—As the Republican convention opens in Philadelphia, Drew Pearson concludes his series on GOP Republican candidates by focusing the spotlight today on dark-horse Governor Earl Warren of California.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 20 — If Republican leaders want to be sure of winning next November, if they want to carry a sizable portion of the Democratic, pro-labor vote, the man this convention will finally pick will be Governor Earl Warren of California.

Of course, when GOP leaders sit down in the smoke-filled rooms, they are notorious for picking the man they want rather than the man the people want. So the modest Mr. Warren, who has done nothing about corralling delegates, may not win their favor.

But, history has proved that there is a large bloc of independent voters in this country which switches from one party to the other according to the candidate. Roosevelt was always able to swing this bloc to the Democrats. Warren, on the other hand, is the one Republican who can be sure of swinging them back to the GOP.

He has proved this in California. Asked how he was able to carry every one of California's 58 counties for Governor in 1942, Warren replied: "I did it with Democrats." In 1946 he was so popular with both parties, that the Democrats as well as the Republicans renominated him. And in the recent California primary, Warren got about the same number of votes as Truman, despite the fact that there are 1,000,000 more registered Democrats than Republicans.

Unquestionably, Warren is the one 100 per cent sure-fire GOP candidate guaranteed to beat any Democrat, probably including Eisenhower.

Warren Vs. Dewey

There is one great difference between Warren and Dewey. Both have given their states extremely efficient administrations. Both are highly competent executives. Both have spent almost all their lives in the complicated science of government.

But Warren has deep-rooted sympathy for human beings. Dewey has stood up for minorities, but his position seems to come from a sense of fairness and political expedience, not from sympathy.

An off-the-record conversation occurring at the Governors' conference in Portsmouth, N. H., last week, illustrates the difference between the two men.

At a Governors' breakfast, Dewey started lambasting the teachers' lobby, said it had flooded the country with falsehoods, urged that the Governors start a counter-offensive.

Governor Jim Duff of Pennsylvania suggested that Dewey bring this up at the round-table scheduled for later in the morning.

"Oh, no," replied the New York Governor, "not with the press present. That would ruin everything."

When other Governors asked Dewey what he proposed, he suggested: "We'll call an executive session and exclude the press." Teachers' propaganda, he added, "is the biggest lie since Adolf Hitler."

So an executive session was called at which the press was barred, and at which Dewey proposed that Frank Bane, secretary of the Governors' conference, hire a couple of publicity experts at $50,000 a year and start a campaign with full-page advertisements combatting the teachers' propaganda.

Teachers' Friends

Governor Warren and Governor Tom Mabry of New Mexico, a Democrat, didn't think much of this. "In New Mexico," Mabry remarked, "we are short 600 teachers. We think teachers should be paid more than domestic servants, who get $50 a week—if you can find them. Common labor gets a dollar an hour. I don't see why you should single out the teachers' lobby. What about the utilities lobby, the oil lobby, the potash lobby, the liquor lobby and a lot of others? I can't see any reason why the teachers, who have always been underpaid, should be singled out."

Dewey maintained, however, that he had had no trouble with other lobbies.

"I don't know how it is in your state, Tom," argued Governor Warren, "and maybe as you say there is no teacher shortage in New York. But there certainly is in California, and many of the teachers are are being paid less than the janitors. I certainly see so reason why the Governors should take any action against the teachers such as you propose."

Dewey, however, still wanted the Governors' conference to undertake a publicity campaign against the teachers. "I'm going to fight that lobby with everything I've got," he said. "If the Governors' conference will stage a countercampaign, I'll double my state's contribution to the conference."

The other Governors, however, would not go along on the anti-teacher publicity campaign, decided only to study the question of teachers' pay scales.

However, Dewey persisted. And another closed meeting was called at night, the press excluded, which lasted two hours. In the end the other Governors still refused to go along with Dewey.

Warren's Father Murdered

Earl Warren's broad sympathy for people comes from the struggling days of his boyhood. He began life as a call-boy in a roundhouse in Bakersfield, Calif., where his job was to pedal to the homes of freight-train crews and notify them when their train was to be made up. His father, a master carbuilder, got fired during a railroad strike, lost his home, had to move and look for work elsewhere. Later, his father was killed by an intruder who broke into their house and bludgeoned the elder Warren to death. The murderer was never apprehended.

Warren understands and likes human beings. And they like him. He has been a great cleaner-up of California, has purged racketeers, the Ku Klux Klan, the big gamblers. He has served in state and county jobs for 30 years, knows the intricate job of running a government. He is an excellent speaker, but shuns the delicate job of trading delegates, pulling backstage wires so necessary to get a Presidential nomination.

But if the Republican Party wants to be 100 per cent sure of victory, Earl Warren is their best and ablest bet.

Some Good Advice To Those Seeking Vacationtime Jobs

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 18.—At this time of year thousands of young people leave school to look for jobs. Many are through with school. They want work by which they can make a living. Others are looking for summer jobs. They want to use their vacations profitably. Some of you young people have written asking for job-hunting tips.

Too many young people when asked what they can do, reply, "Anything". This is a sure way of NOT getting a job. Well, here is some good advice from me:— Collect a few facts about a company before you go for an interview. Know something about its product. Know why you want to work for this particular company. Be able to give enthusiastic reasons for wanting the job and to state definitely your own qualifications.

Tell the employment manager what work experiences you have had. Convey to him the kind of person you are. Give him the impression that you would be a good producer for his company because of your interests, abilities, experience and personality. Don't tell him you need a job. Talk of his troubles, not yours.

Start At the Bottom and Learn

The Babson Institute has contacts with hundreds of employers across the country. I have made a trip through the mid-west where I talked with employment managers, sales managers, presidents, and directors of corporations. They report that, more than anything else, young people are in too much of a hurry. Remember you are worthless to an employer until you learn something about a company and its problems.

My father used to say, "It takes two years to make a two-year old heifer". He was right. You can't sell until you know your product. There is no place like the stockroom to learn this fundamental. If you really want to go places on a job, be willing to start at the bottom and do your job well. Don't be afraid of getting your hands dirty.

One middle western employer is currently telling a story about a wealthy young socialite. This young man could have stepped into a lucrative family business. Instead he went to another manufacturer and said, "I am absolutely worthless to you but there is nothing I want more than to learn your business. The only way I can learn is to go into the shop and roll up my sleeves and go to work. I want that opportunity to start at the bottom and get a good background". The employer was so impressed with this young man's sincerity and foresight that he hired him on the spot.

Business Wants Producers

One thing employers will find out about you is whether or not you are a good producer. This will be determined by school records, part-time work experiences, confidential recommendations, and so forth. You would be surprised how easy it is for an experienced interviewer to size up a fellow who wants a job "goldbricking". Time and again, I have heard businessmen say, "The young person who hasn't learned how to produce isn't worth a plugged nickel to me".

America is what she is today because of the blood and sweat of our forefathers. Only your willingness and ability to produce to capacity will keep her great. Hence, such traits as responsibility, persistence, courage and enthusiasm, will go a long way to help you act and get things done. Adaptability and flexibility, the power to think and reason clearly, are also traits much sought by employers.

Importance Of Character

But above everything, the most important qualification is character. It seems to me that without question there is nothing more important in an employee than a strong character. The man of character is the man who gives an honest day's production, and then some, for his day's wages. He is the man who gets ahead. There will always be opportunity for well-trained, serious-minded, young people of character.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The World Watches

WASHINGTON.

THIS is at last the eve of the Republicans' grand quadrennial chowder march, barbecue and delegate roping contest. One of these correspondents who has just returned from abroad can report that the whole world is waiting for the outcome with agonized anxiety. This time, the Republicans' decision will settle not merely the fate of this nation but the course of world history. Under the circumsances, it seems a sound idea to try to see what the issue at Philadelphia will really be.

The issue expresses itself in the natural grouping of the candidates. In varying degrees, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Governor Earl Warren and Harold Stassen all belong to the modern-minded, forward-looking wing of the Republican party. On the other hand, Senator Robert A. Taft, Speaker Joseph W. Martin and Senator John Bricker are clearly right-wing Republicans, whose eyes are fixed upon the past.

There is a battle for control of the Republican party between the two factions. And since the tone of the Republican party determines the tone of American conservatism, the real issue at Philadelphia will be the future of American conservatism. This is what will be at stake.

To be sure, there are all sorts of shadings and cross-crossings to be noted among the candidates. Governor Dewey, for example, is the most conspicuous candidate of the modern-minded Republicans. Yet he has been generously supported with contributions from a group of New York bankers, some of whom really prefer the Taft-Martin-Bricker brand of Republicanism. They are for Dewey, as one of them succinctly put it, "because we don't think we can quite get away with Taft or Martin." Yet if nominated and elected, Dewey will have obligations to these men which will inevitably influence his policies and appointments. Again he will also have heavy obligations to the Grundy-Owlett-Martin group in the Republican organization in Pennsylvania, which is the stronghold of pre-McKinley thinking.

In short, the necessities of delegate collecting have hung a large collection of albatrosses around Dewey's neck. And the presence of these rather noisome birds will make the choice of Dewey something of a compromise. Equally, Taft is far less conservative than Martin or Bricker. But these qualifications do not really matter. What matters is that Taft is the candidate of Colonel Robert R. McCormick. What matters, in short, is who belongs to the two factions and what they very broadly stand for.

The modern-minded Republicans stand, very broadly, for a strong, international foreign policy, and just enough regulation of business to provide moderate, compromise solutions of such major national problems as housing, conservation of resources, power development and the provision of adeqquate social security. Vandenberg, Dewey, Stassen and Warren are businessmen's candidates, just as much as Taft, Martin and Bricker. But they are the candidates of business men like Paul Hoffman, and not of businessmen like Colonel McCormick and General Robert Wood. They do not want to do more than is absolutely necessary, either in the way of providing funds for reconstruction of a free world abroad, or altering the economy at home. But they recognize that the national government really must do something to solve the problems listed and a host of others.

Among the Republican right-wingers, Senator Taft is in the curious position of advocating domestically a program of social welfare which, if extremely mild, is at least a program. The Republican right wing supports him because, despite occasional bouts of lip service, he is a thoroughly unconverted isolationist. As for Speaker Martin and Senator Bricker, their basic policy is to do nothing really decisive about any national or international problems, relying on Providence or free enterprise to provide the solution. The only laws they believe in strongly are protective tariffs and legislation aimed at the political Left. These are the differences between the factions.

Since the United States is now the prop and leader of the cause of freedom everywhere, and since the Republican candidate is very likely to be elected in November, it is not surprising that the outcome at Philadelphia is awaited with such almost breathless suspense, not only here in America, but all over the world. Among those watching most anxiously, it must be added, are the masters of the Kremlin. For if this country returns to isolationism and extreme reaction, their game will be as good as won.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The New Philosophy

RECENTLY, when coming down from Boston, I had to wait protractedly for seats in the dining car. And being talkative, I suggested to the steward that the railroad would do better if, under the circumstances of big crowds and special events, two dining cars were put on. As it turned out, the one car was inadequately stocked. The steward was polite but, of course, he could do nothing about it.

However, a waiter who happened to be near, barged into the conversation with pointed and interesting remarks. Said he:

"That's what you say. We travel up and down this line during week days making nothing. But here we get one day when we can clean up and you want them to put on two dining cars, so nobody makes anything.

"You're one of those people who figures that the railroads exist only to please the public. Where do we come in?"

I said with studied politeness, lest I be accused of race prejudice, that his was a false argument, to which he responded with no little annoyance.

When I thought over those remarks, that waiter seemed to be only reflective of the New Philosophy. The railroads exist not for the public but for their employees. It does not matter whether those who buy tickets are served or whether the railroads go broke; all that matters is that the employees hold their jobs according to union rules, featherbedding and all.

Similarly, it does not matter about students or parents in schools and colleges, whether supported by taxes or by fees; all that matters is that the teachers and professors have permanent jobs from which they cannot be relieved unless they commit a felony or outrage public opinion in sex relations.

They do not even recognize the parents' obligation to supervise the moral training of their children.

Similarly, the President and other politicians have forgotten that the budget is made up of items which cost money and that the only money the government can get is what the people pay in taxes out of their earnings. It does not seem to matter much what happens to other people's money.

In fact, the very young men—they were young in 1933 when they started—who used to make so much of Judge Brandeis's book, "Other People's Money," have become so accustomed to having their hands in our pockets that when anyone suggests that he would like to keep his own money, they shriek as though they were being robbed.

In fact, President Truman complains that Congress is short-changing him when it tries to make it possible for the average citizen to give his wife an extra dollar or two.

The President traipses about the country telling every special group how much he would like to spend for them of money that is not his to spend.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, before the President went on his trip, calculated that this would be the national picture:

Expenditures Income Deficit
(In billions)

"Fiscal year beginning July 1, 1948
$43.8	$40.	$3.8
Fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949
47.5	40.	7.5
Fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950
49.6	40.	9.6

"It can readily be seen that we may face shortly an increase in taxes of $10 billion, which, pyramided upon existing taxes, will place a crushing burden upon the private enterprise system and the taxpayers of America. A deficit of approximately $7 billion, in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949, will make it necessary to pass a new tax bill next spring. . ."

I hope and pray that Senator Byrd is exaggerating, because after I read his report, I looked at my three children pityingly. They are the ones who will suffer most from the New Philosophy.

They are being taught to love their neighbor and to give him a handout of a billion or two every time he says, "Isolationist!"

But if Senator Byrd's figures are correct, they will never have anything to give the good neighbors or to use for themselves, because they will have to practice austerity.

Yet that waiter was right. The public be damned—only be sure to say it out loud so it is not prejudice and meanness but the New Philosophy.

Republican Convention Opens In Philadelphia

When the official gavel bangs down today, Philadelphia will be playing host to its fifth Republican convention. The first Republican convention anywhere was held there in 1856, when the amalgam of former Whigs, Agrarians, Abolitionists and northern Democrats irked by the influence of slave-owners over the party of Jefferson and Jackson met to nominate John C. Fremont. That first Philadelphia nominee lost, and so did the last one—Willkie, in 1940. But the two other Philadelphia-named men, Grant and McKinley, both won. There is considerably better than even chance that this batting average of .500 will be improved upon in 1948.

For statistically-minded delegates, it may be pointed out that five of the seventeen Republican nominees to date—six of them were named twice—were sons of Ohio. New York is runner-up with three. The average age of nominees in the past was just under 50. The youngest was Dewey, at 42. The oldest were Blaine, Hughes and Harding, each at 54. On fifteen occasions only one ballot has been required to name the party choice. Once—for Garfield—the weary delegates rolled up the astronomic total of 36.

Philadelphia is putting on its best front for the event this week. The wood trim on Independence Hall has a new coat of paint and the Convention Hall has—so it is reported—a new and workable air-conditioning system. The more than 1,000 delegates are hopeful that Philadelphia will live up to its reputation as the City of Brotherly Love. At any rate, there will not be a repitition of the gallery clacque of 1940.

The convention is being covered by the largest corps of newspapermen in the nation's history. A full complement of radio mouthpieces is also there. There are 1,200 reporters on the job representing newspapers in this country and abroad, plus 500 photographers. Scores of others are taking care of radio broadcasts. The Cumberland News is being represented for first-hand coverage by David Lawrence, Drew Pearson, Charles E. Sokolsky and Joseph Alsop, to name a few.

More than 1600 special telephones have been installed and 120 telegraph circuits have a capacity of 5,000 words a minute to help bring convention information to the readers of this newspaper.

Press boxes surrounding the speakers' table accommodate 800 workers, and facilities for the remainder have been set up in the basement of the convention hall. The proceedings will be sent out by television. In addition, much of the proceedings will be recorded, later to be edited and rebroadcast.

Politics has become big business in this country. The two conventions will cost millions of dollars. The Republican National Committee will spend $5,000 a day for music alone, which could develop into a sizeable item if there is a deadlock.

The 1948 convention—like all those that have preceded it—is looked upon as the most important in the nation's history, and newspaper coverage will be superb.

After see-sawing up and down for months, the wheat crop forecast has finally stopped at normal, which is as good a hedge as any.

Truman's Tactics Amount To Public Interest Sabotage

It is a national misfortune that President Truman concluded the only way he can garner votes — or even assure his nomination at Philadelphia — was to pick daily quarrels with Congress during his political junket. If this campaign were confined to those cheap and cocky diatribes which were delivered from the back platform of his train, the only result would be to lower the dignity of Mr. Truman's office. But he also obstructed the work of Congress by repeated vetoes, often on flimsy grounds.

In the last crowded legislative week, Mr. Truman vetoed three bills, including the appropriation for the Social Security Administration. This brings the total of vetoes during the current session to 29.

Back in January, 1947, Mr. Truman pledged his co-operation with the Republican Congress elected by the people. For a time he did co-operate, and Congress worked along with him. The present bi-partisan foreign policy in Congress is well-nigh unique in American peacetime history. When his political stock began to fall and Henry Wallace entered the field, to lure away the more leftist of the Roosevelt following, someone persuaded Mr. Truman that his only chance to win in '48 was to outdo the New Deal demogogy. Hence the speaking tour—at the public expense — which ended at Baltimore Friday, with its violent and silly attacks on Congress as "the friend of special privilege."

It's bad enough at any time for a President to treat Congress as a political whipping-boy. But when this is done at the close of a crowded session, with a number of vital matters pending, it amounts to sabotage of the public interest. Congress has done a prodiguous amount of work, in day and night sessions, while the President was wise-cracking in the West. The only comment on this, delivered at Albuquerque, was, "They've got the jitters back there. They have gone to work."

Few congresses in our history have done more constructive work than the one now in session. And this has been done despite the obstructions of a President who has conducted himself largely like a man still under the wing of Boss Ed Pendergast.

Thirty million cars are using streets in American cities, and a hundred million pedestrians are trying to use them.

Report From Greece

Not much has been heard about Greece lately, which may be an indication that affairs are in at least fairly good order over there and that the Greeks are getting the best of the communist guerillas.

Lending support to this thesis is the report by Dwight P. Griswold, chief of the United States Mission to Greece, who has come home for a brief vacation and for a discussion of the whole situation. According to Griswold, communism "is stopped" in Greece, even though there is still much fighting going on.

Particularly encouraging is the statement by Griswold that 85 to 90 per cent of the Greeks are now anti-communist. No less reassuring is his declaration that the Greek army is "doing a very good job." There has been some doubt on this point and many Americans still hold the belief that the Greek military forces are merely going through the motions.

Factors In Motion Sickness

Many plane or ship passengers become ill if the weather is rough. We all vary in this respect as some develop symptoms more quickly than others. During the war, preventive measures were studied in great detail because survival depended upon the well being of the men while traveling. This information has now been passed on to us even though in peace time, motion sickness is more annoying and embarrassing than serious.

The signs of air or seasickness are unmsitakable. A passenger, who seems to be enjoying himself, suddenly becomes quiet and subdued. He feels nauseated and saliva begins to collect in his mouth. The skin turns cold and pale; beads of perspiration gather on the brow. Then comes that uncontrollable desire to upchuck, with a resultant hasty retreat to the ship's rail or the rear of the plane.

The extremely susceptible were apparently born that way and as children had difficulty riding in automobiles or on street cars. Even on ferry boats they were poor sailors. In others, psychological factors play a role; on boarding a plane they expect to become ill and frequently do. Some have had a past experience along this line while riding the gadgets in amusement parks. The emotions are important also as nausea and vomiting are more likely to occur in the presence of apprehension, fear, or any other psychic disturbance.

In the majority of victims, discomfort arises because the body cannot adjust to the pitching and see-saw movements. The vestibular apparatus in the ear is the basis of trouble. Normally, it helps to maintain our balance and whenever it it is not functioning properly, we become dizzy and nauseated. Should the plane suddenly go up and down or rotate, this mechanism cannot keep up with the movements; and if they continue, it ultimately rebels. This occurs in some after a brief exposure to rough weather; others require a longer period. The vibrations of the plane often quicken the process and the same can be said if ventilation is poor or unpleasant odors exist. There is a limit to how much can be tolerated and we have all heard people describe trips in which every one was affected except perhaps the captain or pilot.

By holding the eyes still or focusing on a distant point, the sensation can often be averted. An abdominal belt or support also helps. Those who are apprehensive or psychologically predisposed to motion sickness are aided by sedatives. The better remedies usually contain belladonna, atropine, niacin, hyoscine, or hyoscyamine. The two latter drugs have proved more successful, used either indivadually or in combination. The National research council of Canada recommends the addition thereto of thiobarbiturate. The first dose of any product is generally taken two to four hours before departure; the effect lasts from eight to twelve hours as a rule and, at the end of this period, another dose is required.

OH HELLO SWEETHEART!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Dark-Horse Gov. Warren Is Republican Party's Ablest Candidate; Republicans Would Pull Large Bloc Of Democratic Votes Under Warren

Says DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note—As the Republican convention opens in Philadelphia, Drew Pearson concludes his series on GOP Republican candidates by focusing the spotlight today on dark-horse Governor Earl Warren of California.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 20 — If Republican leaders want to be sure of winning next November, if they want to carry a sizable portion of the Democratic, pro-labor vote, the man this convention will finally pick will be Governor Earl Warren of California.

Of course, when GOP leaders sit down in the smoke-filled rooms, they are notorious for picking the man they want rather than the man the people want. So the modest Mr. Warren, who has done nothing about corralling delegates, may not win their favor.

But history has proved that there is a large bloc of independent voters in this country which switches from one party to the other according to the candidate. Roosevelt was always able to swing this bloc to the Democrats. Warren, on the other hand, is the one Republican who can be sure of swinging them back to the GOP.

He has proved this in California. Asked how he was able to carry every one of California's 58 counties for Governor in 1942, Warren replied: "I did it with Democrats." In 1946 he was so popular with both parties, that the Democrats as well as the Republicans renominated him. And in the recent California primary, Warren got about the same number of votes as Truman, despite the fact that there are 1,000,000 more registered Democrats than Republicans.

Unquestionably, Warren is the one 100 per cent sure-fire GOP candidate guaranteed to beat any Democrat, probably including Eisenhower.

Warren Vs. Dewey

There is one great difference between Warren and Dewey. Both have given their states extremely efficient administrations. Both are highly competent executives. Both have spent almost all their lives in the complicated science of government.

But Warren has deep-rooted sympathy for human beings. Dewey has stood up for minorities, but his position seems to come from a sense of fairness and political expedience, not from sympathy.

An off-the-record conversation occurring at the Governors' conference in Portsmouth, N. H., last week, illustrates the difference between the two men.

At a Governors' breakfast, Dewey started lambasting the teachers' lobby, said it had flooded the country with falsehoods, urged that the Governors start a counter-offensive.

Governor Jim Duff of Pennsylvania suggested that Dewey bring this up at the round-table scheduled for later in the morning.

"Oh, no," replied the New York Governor, "not with the press present. That would ruin everything."

When other Governors asked Dewey what he proposed, he suggested: "We'll call an executive session and exclude the press." Teachers' propaganda, he added, "is the biggest lie since Adolf Hitler."

So an executive session was called at which the press was barred, and at which Dewey proposed that Frank Bane, secretary of the Governors' conference, hire a couple of publicity experts at $50,000 a year and start a campaign with full-page advertisements combatting the teachers' propaganda.

Teachers' Friends

Governor Warren and Governor Tom Mabry of New Mexico, a Democrat, didn't think much of this. "In New Mexico," Mabry remarked, "we are short 600 teachers. We think teachers should be paid more than domestic servants, who get $50 a week—if you can find them. Common labor gets a dollar an hour. I don't see why you should single out the teachers' lobby. What about the utilities lobby, the oil lobby, the potash lobby, the liquor lobby and a lot of others? I can't see any reason why the teachers, who have always been underpaid, should be singled out."

Dewey maintained, however, that he had had no trouble with other lobbies.

"I don't know how it is in your state, Tom," argued Governor Warren, "and maybe as you say there is no teacher shortage in New York. But there certainly is in California, and many of the teachers are are being paid less than the janitors. I certainly see no reason why the Governors should take any action against the teachers such as you propose."

Dewey, however, still wanted the Governors' conference to undertake a publicity campaign against the teachers. "I'm going to fight that lobby with everything I've got," he said. "If the Governors' conference will stage a countercampaign, I'll double my state's contribution to the conference."

The other Governors, however, would not go along on the anti-teacher publicity campaign, decided only to study the question of teachers' pay scales.

However, Dewey persisted. And another closed meeting was called at night, the press excluded, which lasted two hours. In the end the other Governors still refused to go along with Dewey.

Warren's Father Murdered

Earl Warren's broad sympathy for people comes from the struggling days of his boyhood. He began life as a call-boy in a roundhouse in Bakersfield, Calif., where his job was to pedal to the homes of freight-train crews and notify them when their train was to be made up. His father, a master carbuilder, got fired during a railroad strike, lost his home, had to move and look for work elsewhere. Later, his father was killed by an intruder who broke into their house and bludgeoned the elder Warren to death. The murderer was never apprehended.

Warren understands and likes human beings. And they like him. He has been a great cleaner-up of California, has purged racketeers, the Ku Klux Klan, the big gamblers. He has served in state and county jobs for 30 years, knows the intricate job of running a government. He is an excellent speaker, but shuns the delicate job of trading delegates, pulling backstage wires so necessary to get a Presidential nomination.

But if the Republican Party wants to be 100 per cent sure of victory, Earl Warren is their best and ablest bet.

Some Good Advice To Those Seeking Vacationtime Jobs

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 18. —At this time of year thousands of young people leave school to look for jobs. Many are through with school. They want work by which they can make a living. Others are looking for summer jobs. They want to use their vacations profitably. Some of you young people have written asking for job-hunting tips.

Too many young people when asked what they can do, reply, "Anything". This is a sure way of NOT getting a job. Well, here is some good advice from me:— Collect a few facts about a company before you go for an interview. Know something about its product. Know why you want to work for this particular company. Be able to give enthusiastic reasons for wanting the job and to state definitely your own qualifications.

Tell the employment manager what work experiences you have had. Convey to him the kind of person you are. Give him the impression that you would be a good producer for his company because of your interests, abilities, experience and personality. Don't tell him you need a job. Talk of his troubles, not yours.

Start At the Bottom and Learn

The Babson Institute has contacts with hundreds of employers across the country. I have made a trip through the mid-west where I talked with employment managers, sales managers, presidents, and directors of corporations. They report that, more than anything else, young people are in too much of a hurry. Remember you are worthless to an employer until you learn something about a company and its problems.

My father used to say, "It takes two years to make a two-year old heifer". He was right. You can't sell until you know your product. There is no place like the stockroom to learn this fundamental. If you really want to go places on a job, be willing to start at the bottom and do your job well. Don't be afraid of getting your hands dirty.

One middle western employer is currently telling a story about a wealthy young socialite. This young man could have stepped into a lucrative family business. Instead he went to another manufacturer and said, "I am absolutely worthless to you but there is nothing I want more than to learn your busienss. The only way I can learn is to go into the shop and roll up my sleeves and go to work. I want that opportunity to start at the bottom and get a good background". The employer was so impressed with this young man's sincerity and foresight that he hired him on the spot.

Business Wants Producers

One thing employers will find out about you is whether or not you are a good producer. This will be determined by school records, part-time work experiences, confidential recommendations, and so forth. You would be surprised how easy it is for an experienced interviewer to size up a fellow who wants a job "goldbricking". Time and again, I have heard businessmen say, "The young person who hasn't learned how to produce isn't worth a plugged nickel to me".

America is what she is today because of the blood and sweat of our forefathers. Only your willingness and ability to produce to capacity will keep her great. Hence, such traits as responsibility, persistence, courage and enthusiasm, will go a long way to help you act and get things done. Adaptability and flexibility, the power to think and reason clearly, are also traits much sought by employers.

Importance Of Character

But above everything, the most important qualification is character. It seems to me that without question there is nothing more important in an employee than a strong character. The man of character is the man who gives an honest day's production, and then some, for his day's wages. He is the man who gets ahead. There will always be opportunity for well-trained, serious-minded, young people of character.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The World Watches

WASHINGTON.

THIS is at last the eve of the Republicans' grand quadrennial chowder march, barbecue and delegate roping contest. One of these correspondents who has just returned from abroad can report that the whole world is waiting for the outcome with agonized anxiety. This time, the Republicans' decision will settle not merely the fate of this nation but the course of world history. Under the circumsances, it seems a sound idea to try to see what the issue at Philadelphia will really be.

The issue expresses itself in the natural grouping of the candidates. In varying degrees, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Governor Earl Warren and Harold Stassen all belong to the modern-minded, forward-looking wing of the Republican party. On the other hand, Senator Robert A. Taft, Speaker Joseph W. Martin and Senator John Bricker are clearly right-wing Republicans, whose eyes are fixed upon the past.

There is a battle for control of the Republican party between the two factions. And since the tone of the Republican party determines the tone of American conservatism, the real issue at Philadelphia will be the future of American conservatism. This is what will be at stake.

To be sure, there are all sorts of shadings and cross-crossings to be noted among the candidates. Governor Dewey, for example, is the most conspicuous candidate of the modern-minded Republicans. Yet he has been generously supported with contributions from a group of New York bankers, some of whom really prefer the Taft-Martin-Bricker brand of Republicanism. They are for Dewey, as one of them succinctly put it, "because we don't think we can quite get away with Taft or Martin." Yet if nominated and elected, Dewey will have obligations to these men which will inevitably influence his policies and appointments. Again he will also have heavy obligations to the Grundy-Owlett-Martin group in the Republican organization in Pennsylvania, which is the stronghold of pre-McKinley thinking.

In short, the necessities of delegate collecting have hung a large collection of albatrosses around Dewey's neck. And the presence of these rather noisome birds will make the choice of Dewey something of a compromise. Equally, Taft is far less conservative than Martin or Bricker. But these qualifications do not really matter. What matters is that Taft is the candidate of Colonel Robert R. McCormick. What matters, in short, is who belongs to the two factions and what they very broadly stand for.

The modern-minded Republicans stand, very broadly, for a strong, international foreign policy, and just enough regulation of business to provide moderate, compromise solutions of such major national problems as housing, conservation of resources, power development and the provision of adeqquate social security. Vandenberg, Dewey, Stassen and Warren are businessmen's candidates, just as much as Taft, Martin and Bricker. But they are the candidates of business men like Paul Hoffman, and not of businessmen like Colonel McCormick and General Robert Wood. They do not want to do more than is absolutely necessary, either in the way of providing funds for reconstruction of a free world abroad, or altering the economy at home. But they recognize that the national government really must do something to solve the problems listed and a host of others.

Among the Republican right-wingers, Senator Taft is in the curious position of advocating domestically a program of social welfare which, if extremely mild, is at least a program. The Republican right wing supports him because, despite occasional bouts of lip service, he is a thoroughly unconverted isolationist. As for Speaker Martin and Senator Bricker, their basic policy is to do nothing really decisive about any national or international problems, relying on Providence or free enterprise to provide the solution. The only laws they believe in strongly are protective tariffs and legislation aimed at the political Left. These are the differences between the factions.

Since the United States is now the prop and leader of the cause of freedom everywhere, and since the Republican candidate is very likely to be elected in November, it is not surprising that the outcome at Philadelphia is awaited with such almost breathless suspense, not only here in America, but all over the world. Among those watching most anxiously, it must be added, are the masters of the Kremlin. For if this country returns to isolationism and extreme reaction, their game will be as good as won.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The New Philosophy

RECENTLY, when coming down from Boston, I had to wait protractedly for seats in the dining car. And being talkative, I suggested to the steward that the railroad would do better if, under the circumstances of big crowds and special events, two dining cars were put on. As it turned out, the one car was inadequately stocked. The steward was polite but, of course, he could do nothing about it.

However, a waiter who happened to be near, barged into the conversation with pointed and interesting remarks. Said he:

"That's what you say. We travel up and down this line during week days making nothing. But here we get one day when we can clean up and you want them to put on two dining cars, so nobody makes anything.

"You're one of those people who figures that the railroads exist only to please the public. Where do we come in?"

I said with studied politeness, lest I be accused of race prejudice, that his was a false argument, to which he responded with no little annoyance.

When I thought over those remarks, that waiter seemed to be only reflective of the New Philosophy. The railroads exist not for the public but for their employees. It does not matter whether those who buy tickets are served or whether the railroads go broke; all that matters is that the employees hold their jobs according to union rules, featherbedding and all.

Similarly, it does not matter about students or parents in schools and colleges, whether supported by taxes or by fees; all that matters is that the teachers and professors have permanent jobs from which they cannot be relieved unless they commit a felony or outrage public opinion in sex relations.

They do not even recognize the parents' obligation to supervise the moral training of their children.

Similarly, the President and other politicians have forgotten that the budget is made up of items which cost money and that the only money the government can get is what the people pay in taxes out of their earnings. It does not seem to matter much what happens to other people's money.

In fact, the very young men —they were young in 1933 when they started—who used to make so much of Judge Brandeis's book, "Other People's Money," have become so accustomed to having their hands in our pockets that when anyone suggests that he would like to keep his own money, they shriek as though they were being robbed.

In fact, President Truman complains that Congress is short-changing him when it tries to make it possible for the average citizen to give his wife an extra dollar or two.

The President traipses about the country telling every special group how much he would like to spend for them of money that is not his to spend.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, before the President went on his trip, calculated that this would be the national picture:

Expenditures	Income	Deficit
(In billions)
Fiscal year beginning July 1, 1948	$43.8	$40.	$3.8
Fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949	47.5	40.	7.5
Fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950	49.6	40.	9.6

"It can readily be seen that we may face shortly an increase in taxes of $10 billion, which, pyramided upon existing taxes, will place a crushing burden upon the private enterprise system and the taxpayers of America. A deficit of approximately $7 billion, in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949, will make it necessary to pass a new tax bill next spring. . ."

I hope and pray that Senator Byrd is exaggerating, because after I read his report, I looked at my three children pityingly. They are the ones who will suffer most from the New Philosophy.

They are being taught to love their neighbor and to give him a handout of a billion or two every time he says, "Isolationist!"

But if Senator Byrd's figures are correct, they will never have anything to give the good neighbors or to use for themselves, because they will have to practice austerity.

Yet that waiter was right. The public be damned—only be sure to say it out loud so it is not prejudice and meanness but the New Philosophy.

GOP Convention To Hold Spotlight On Radio For Week

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 20—The Republican National Convention opens at Philadelphia on Monday and all the networks will be there. So will television. Plans call for full broadcasts of the regular sessions in addition to numerous other related programs.

For Monday two sessions are scheduled, the opening in the morning and the keynote address at night. The additional broadcasts will include regular newscasts, most of which will originate from Philadelphia, where the networks are setting up special studios.

As announced in the advance, the first day's schedule is expected to run: 11 a. m. or thereabouts. Opening session for preliminary organization of the convention; 9 p. m. or possibly later, keynote speech of Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois. The session broadcasts will continue as long as each session lasts. The networks are relaying the convention under their daylight schedule which makes transmission conform to local time.

Television, which will be carried by 18 stations in nine cities along the eastern seaboard from Boston to Richmond, Va., will follow about the same schedule but as a rule will be on the air somewhat longer than the radio from the convention hall. Television too will have some of its own features.

In addition to the convention itself, some of the added features are: ABC 4:30 p. m. Delegate interview by George Hicks; ABC 4:45 Sidelights; CBS 6:15 Convention hall pickup; ABC 11:35 Convention round table.

Dut to possible changes to keep the schedule in accordance with developments, programs as listed ahead of time are being made subject to last-minute alteration.

The Oooh Girl

Julie Conway, who possessses a voice which may well be second only to Bing Crosby's in national renown, achieved that fame by declaiming just four words. Up until last year, you could hear Julie four times a day—twice each on the "Ma Perkins" and Jack Smith shows — squealing rapturously: "Ooooh, that Oxydol sparkle!" Since last year, the slogan has been changed and Julie now employs her capable lungs on: "That new, new, NEW Oxydol sparkle!"

John Crosby

Julie is unhappy about dropping the "oooh" or the squeal, as she calls it. It was the zing she put into that "oooh" that got her the job originally and she feels attached to it. Dozens of girls tried out for the job but, until Julie arrived, none of them could produce an "oooh" which combined transports of bliss with sufficient lung power to penetrate to the farthest recesses of the kitchen where mother was doing the dishes. Once they heard Julie's "oooh," the ad agency executives knew they had finally located the one and only Oxydol sparkle girl. However, even then, they weren't fully satisfied. Every day ad executives called her up and told her which of her four "ooohs" they preferred. Having refined that "oooh" to a point of almost inimitable artistry, she feels a little lost without it and hopes Oxydol will restore it some day.

"When people hear "oooh,' they think of Oxydol," she says. I'm afraid she's right.

Julie hails from Granite City, Ill., and she says that all 26,000 residents of Granite City tune her in every day to hear about the new, new Oxydol sparkle. She still harbors ambitions to be an actress and in studying theater technique with the idea of some day combining musical comedy and radio work. Her present connection to radio is not, however, a triumph of commerce over art. She likes radio and the people in it—she's married to and she likes doing singing commercials. They require, she insists, a high degree of skill. This claim is backed to a certain degree by the fact that Oxydol is having a terrible time finding another Oxydol sparkle girl for the Jack Smith show, which is moving to the Coast.

Rhapsodizing over Oxydol seems like an easy way to earn a living but it isn't exactly. For almost a year, she did four Oxydols in addition to three Blu-Whites a day and between rehearsals and performances she worked from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 p. m. At one point in her crowded day, it took a small portion of N.B.C. and C.B.S. personnel to get her from one studio to another in time. An elevator operator at C.B.S. held his car for her so she could catch a taxi which the C.B.S. doorman was holding for her. Meanwhile, at N.B.C. another special elevator was held in readiness to rush her up to the studio. "Never again," she declares vehemently.

Before she got into the singing commercial profession, Julie had quite a stint of more orthodox vocalizing behind her. She sang at the Pump Room in Chicago, did the ingenue lead in a Dwight Wiman musical in California and sang with Kay Kyser's band, which was her first experience with radio. When first offered a singing commercial job, she demurred—until she heard the salary. She won't say what she's paid but the A.F.R.A. minimum for singing commercials is $21.75 for each program, and she does four a day. Julie is also the Quaker Girl on the Armstrong "Theater of Today" ($29) and does the Toni home permanent singing commercial on "Crime Photographer." Also she will be the singing lead in a new program called "Musicomedy," the summer replacement for the Ozzie and Harriet show. Five hundred dollars a week is a good enough guess for her income.

While she doesn't always confine her activities to Oxydol, she has already gathered a measure of fame as the Oxydol girl which she may have difficulty living down. In stores, when her identity is revealed, people crowd around to stare at her. Urchins follow her down the street chanting "Oooh, that Oxydol sparkle." (Julie says the kids can do it very well too.)

The Oxydol sparkle girl and her husband own a home in Harrison, N. Y., which was virtually paid for by that Oxydol sparkle. "Every shingle an ooooh," they say.

Virginia Simmons Is Honored At Bridal Shower

Miss Ruth Lee Mackert was hostess at a linen shower for Miss Virginia Lee Simmons, Thursday night at her home, Shriver Avenue.

Miss Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Simmons, 603 Pine Avenue, is the fiancee of Paul William Mackert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Mackert, 706 Shriver Avenue. The wedding will be performed June 24 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church by Rev. Francis DeSales Young, O.F.M. Cap. Miss Mackert will be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Thomas E. Mackert will be his brother's best man.

A pink and blue color scheme was carried out in the decorations, with flowers which were combined with a bridal motif of wedding bells. The same color scheme was used in the pink and white hamper and pink bow containing the shower gifts, and repeated in the large wedding cake adorned with pink rosebuds. Mary Ann Mackert and Miss Rosemary Blake assisted in serving. Ten guests attended.

Lutheran Church Plans Daily Vacation School

The Daily Vacation Church School of St. John's Lutheran Church, corner of Fourth and Arch streets, will open today and will continue for two weeks. The closing service of the school will be held Sunday morning, July 4, at 10:30 o'clock.

The sessions will begin each day at 9 o'clock.

The school will be open to all children of the community who wish to attend and will be under the leadership of Mrs. DeCoursey Roth.

Lightning Strikes Keegan's Home

Lightning that accompanied the heavy downpour of rain Saturday at 5:30 p. m. struck an electrical pole in the rear of Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan's home, 310 Cumberland Street, and destroyed an electric meter in the house.

Mrs. Keegan, who was alone in the house at the time, said several metal screens were also damaged by the bolt. Firemen were summoned but no blaze resulted.

The thunderstorm struck the city as many Saturday afternoon shoppers were heading home from the business district. Several electric lines supplying the Bowling Green section were also knocked out for a short time. Rain was accompanied with hail in such quantity that lawns were covered for a brief period. A second severe storm hit the city about 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Celanese Makes News In Fortune Magazine

The Celanese Corporation of America became the source for a magazine article in the May publication of Fortune, and the company is now distributing copies of the story which have been reprinted with permission of Fortune editors.

The local plant is referred to several times throughout the story which is also demonstrated with several pictures taken at other Celanese plants in the United States.

Lightning Strikes Keegan's Home

Lightning that accompanied the heavy downpour of rain Saturday at 5:30 p. m. struck an electrical pole in the rear of Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan's home, 310 Cumberland Street, and destroyed an electric meter in the house.

Mrs. Keegan, who was alone in the house at the time, said several metal screens were also damaged by the bolt. Firemen were summoned but no blaze resulted.

The thunderstorm struck the city as many Saturday afternoon shoppers were heading home from the business district. Several electric lines supplying the Bowling Green section were also knocked out for a short time. Rain was accompanied with hail in such quantity that lawns were covered for a brief period. A second severe storm hit the city about 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Elks Lodge Will Remodel, Repair Frostburg Home

Building Occupies Historic Grounds

FROSTBURG — The small two-story stone and brick building on the rear of the lot on East Main Street, occupied by the Elks Home, will, if present plans of the Elks are carried out, be torn down soon to make room for a new addition to the Elks building. The little structure is part of the original home of the late Mr. and Mrs. George McCulloh, early settlers of Frostburg, and is historically accepted as the slave quarters of the establishment.

Regarded as one of the most historic spots in Frostburg, the site of the Elks Home was first occupied by a frame residence built in 1806 for Mr. and Mrs. McCulloh, who were married that year, Mrs. McCulloh being Miss Mary Clarke, daughter of Robert and Rebecca Clarke who, during the Revolutionary War period, were the owners of practically all the forest land in and around the present site of Frostburg and whose home was on what is now known as the "Vale Farm," near Vale Summit.

After spending a few years of their married life in the frame house, Mr. and Mrs. McCulloh had the building replaced with the present brick structure, which later became the home of the late Dr. James M. Porter and is known by most of the older members of the present generation as the "Dr. Porter Home."

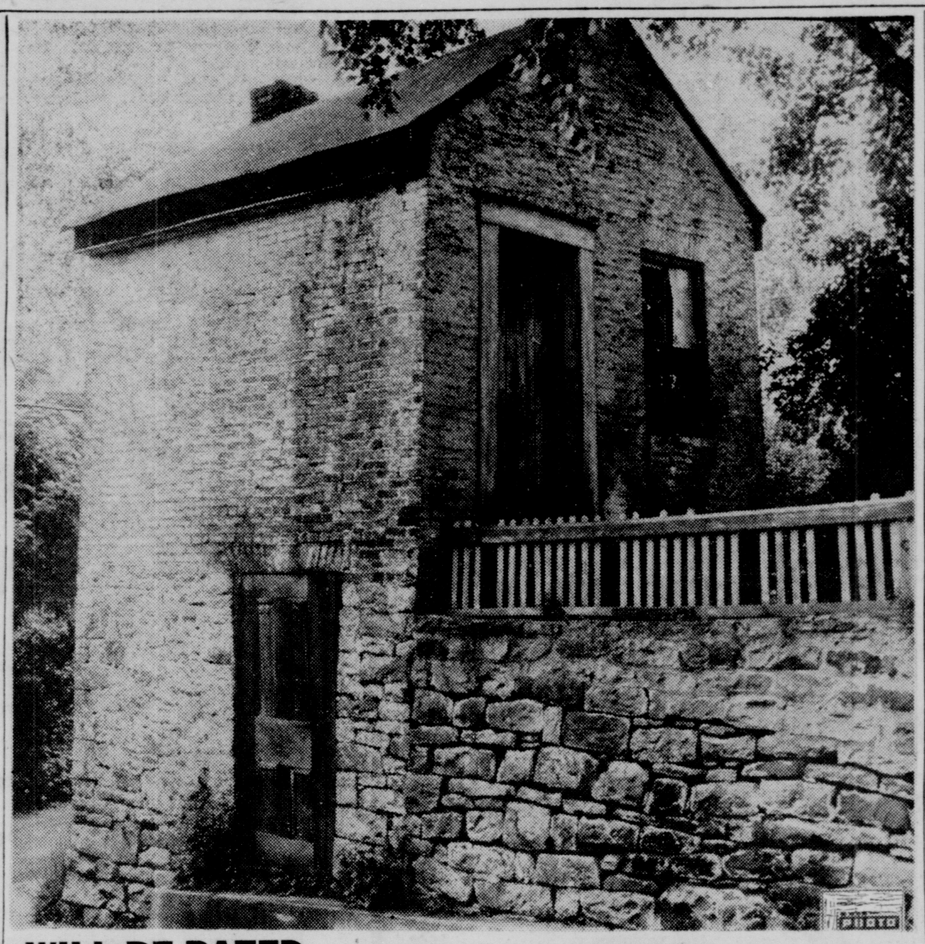
Since the death of Dr. Porter, the place has been owned by various persons, including the late Daniel and John McMullen, who sold the property to the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan E. Shaffer. In 1912, the property was purchased from the Shaffers by Mrs. Dora Willison and the late Lawrence D. Willison, at that time a prominent building contractor. After purchasing the property, Mr. and Mrs. Willison spent many thousands of dollars on the building, which was referred to in a special edition of the Frostburg Mining Journal published by the late J. B. Oder February 13, 1915 as "Mr. Willison's Jeffersonian re-model into one of Frostburg's most imposing residences."

The building committee of the Frostburg Elks have already made improvements to the second story of the front porch and have awarded a contract for the repainting of the exterior of the entire building. Plans are being drafted for a new addition in the rear, measuring 50 by 45 feet and one story in height. This proposed addition will make more room available for the lounge rooms and social activities. The improvement plans also provide for re-carpeting and re-decorating the interior of first floor rooms and the re-decorating of the second floor lodge room, which is also used as a ballroom.

Since the building was purchased by the Elks from Mrs. Dora Willison February 14, 1939, it has undergone many changes, but many traces of the original architectural beauty have been untouched, the idea being to preserve the original dignity of the better homes constructed in the early days of the last century.

One of the most imposing monuments in Allegany Cemetery is erected to the memory of the builders and first occupants of the present Elks Home. It is inscribed as follows:

"George McCulloh, born March 6, 1782, Died December 27, 1854; Mary C., his wife, born April 20, 1790, Died February 9, 1876."



WILL BE RAZED-- Shown above is the reputed slave quarters of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McCulloh, early settlers of Frostburg, which will soon be torn dwon to make room for an addition to the Frostburg Elks Home. The present site of the Elks home was originally occupied by the McCulloh home, which was constructed in 1806. The second story of the porch at the Elks home has already been improved and a contract has been let for the repainting of the whole exterior.

Stewart And Elias Go To GOP Convention

FROSTBURG—Judge of the Orphans Court A. Charles Stewart and Thomas Elias, this city, left Sunday for Philadelphia to attend the Republican National Convention.

Stewart, a past grand trustee of the B. P. O. Elks, is acquainted with delegates from several states with whom he was associated as a member of the Grand Lodge of Elks.

Elias has been a member of the State Central Committee of the Republican Party of Allegany County for the past 13 years. Both Stewart and Elias are acquaintances of William Livingood, Meyersdale, Pa., Secretary of State of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who is the sergeant-at-arms at the Republican Convention.

Tucker Co. Court Names Dr. Michaels To Post

PARSONS, W. Va.—At the June meeting of the Tucker County Court Dr. Guy Michaels, Parsons, was recommended by the court to the State Health Department as county health officer to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. F. K. Lyons to June 30, 1950.

The county has been without a county health officer since the death of Dr. Lyons several months ago.

The court also approved the purchase of 18 storm windows for the jail and sheriff's residence at an approximate cost of $700.

Miss Phyllis McCauley, Parsons, was recommended by the court as a notary public.

Tucker County Agent Is Selected For Moses Foundation Scholarship

PARSONS, W. Va. —Arnett L. Kidd, Tucker County agent for the past 13 years, last week was chosen one of the two county agents in the state for the Horace A. Moses Foundation scholarship. County Agent Kidd will take a six-weeks course in 4-H Club work at Fort Collins, Colo.

Kidd, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, taught school in Upshur, Lewis and Raleigh Counties and then served as superintendent of schools in Batelle District, Monongahela County before coming to Parsons as county agent.

Since coming to Tucker County as a county agent he has organized 4-H Club work and is now widely known for this work and has the record of having one of the best clubs in the state. He is also recognized for his work in the cauliflower project in this county, started in Canaan Valley five years ago, and now nationally known for its quality.

In June "Capt." Kidd was awarded his master's degree in agriculture from West Virginia University. In 1946 he was chosen one of the outstanding county agricultural agents at the National County Agricultural Agents meeting in Chicago, and is now listed in "Who's Who in Agriculture."

Lonaconing Road Repairs Gets Underway Today

LONACONING — Road improvements in the town of Lonaconing will begin today, according to announcement from the city officials.

Streets that will be repaired and improved are, Jackson, Washington, Allegany and Dudley Streets; Big Vein Hill, Gills Hill, Jackson Hill road, Church Hill, Beechwood Road, Cobble stone street on Scotch Hill, Scotch Hill, Cemetery Road.

Mayor Alex A. Burt, on behalf of the town council, asks that all persons living on the streets to be improved, to tend to their water lines immediately so that no delays will be caused when the work on the roads begin next week. A notice was published in the newspaper on May 21 to May 23, that the street paving would begin and requested water lines and any other necessary changes be made in order to have the road work progress.

New Garage To Be Built At Oakland

OAKLAND—Ground was broken last week for the construction of a new garage in Oakland, to be located on the corner of Omar and North Third Streets.

The builder is Herman A. "Jim" Meyer, Davis, W. Va., an automobile dealer. Original plans called for a $40,000 structure, but only a portion of the building will be constructed now, one story, about 60 feet square, with a showroom joining the northwest section. It will be of concrete block and steel.

Camp Nemacolin To Open July 1

OAKLAND—Deep Creek Lake can boast of another recreational asset when the newly-built Camp Nemacolin opens on July 1. The camp, which was designed and constructed by Dr. Thomas Gordon Bennett, health consultant for the Kellogg Foundation, is intended for a boys' camp during the summer months, and an adult camp in the fall, having a capacity of about 100 campers.

Camp Nemacolin is located on the Glendale road and consists of 18 acres of wooded land with an extensive water frontage. Dr. Bennett has built a lodge of oak logs, 97 by 63 feet, which will serve as the main building. It houses an assembly room, 36 by 30 feet, with fireplaces at both ends. The 50 by 24-foot dining room has a capacity of 120 persons. Mrs. Bennett, a trained dietition, will be in charge.

Four cabins on the acreage will house from 10 to 12 boys each. Additional sleeping quarters are provided in a series of rooms with connecting baths on the ground floor of the lodge.

Dr. Bennett has been affiliated with youth instruction for many years, receiving his doctorate in education and health from Columbia University. He is a graduate of Western Maryland, 1909, and is a former superintendent of schools of Anne Arundel County.

Pajama Factory To Be Remodeled

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Pajama Factory, employing 215 persons, most of them women, was shut down Friday for the summer months for repairs. The plant, according to local officials, will reopen about September 1.

Thomas Elias, president of the Frostburg Business Association, stated that one of the owners of the plant, which is operated by the Michael Berkowitz Company, New York, informed him Friday that the plant was to be remodeled and reopened as a shirt factory. The plant, Elias said he was informed, is too small for the manufacture of pajamas. The pajamas will be made at the company's Uniontown, Pa., plant in the future.

The first step in the reconversion started last Wednesday when the first stitching machines were shut down and dismantling operations began in that department.

The next steps in the total shutdown would be the completion of final work in pressing, boxing and shipping departments. A skeleton crew of machine operators will remain for a few days to finish work which is already in the process of manufacture, and workmen are now tearing up floors of the building in preparation for the remodeling work.

Employes stated that company officials assured them every effort would be made to re-employ all of the present workers, while adding a few more men to the payroll.

Oakland Industry To Be Considered

OAKLAND—The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce will bring Gayle W. Arnold, manager of industrial development for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, here to speak to its members some time in July, it was announced at a recent meeting. Arnold will discuss possibilities of a small industrial development in or near Oakland. Charles L. Briner, president of the organization, said the meeting would be a dinner affair for all members.

Another matter discussed at the meeting was a letter from Ronald E. McIntire, House of Delegates, in which he reported a talk with state forester Joseph F. Kaylor regarding a public picnic area at Deep Creek Lake. Kaylor was much interested in furthering the project, McIntire said. The Chamber also considered placing picnic tables and fire-places on the 'islands" formed between the new and old sections of route 219, now under reconstruction.

Members of the chamber from Deep Creek Lake suggested a drive to remove driftwood from the lake. Because the lake is at its highest point, a number of logs have been set adrift, causing danger to boating, members said.

Letters are to be sent to boat owners asking that they donate their time and boats on June 24 to clear the water of obstructions.

There are now 614 motor boats on the lake and 265 rowboats, sailboats and canoes, thus far, according to game wardens there.

Elks Lodge Will Remodel, Repair Frostburg Home

Building Occupies Historic Grounds

FROSTBURG — The small two-story stone and brick building on the rear of the lot on East Main Street, occupied by the Elks Home, will, if present plans of the Elks are carried out, be torn down soon to make room for a new addition to the Elks building. The little structure is part of the original home of the late Mr. and Mrs. George McCulloh, early settlers of Frostburg, and is historically accepted as the slave quarters of the establishment.

Regarded as one of the most historic spots in Frostburg, the site of the Elks Home was first occupied by a frame residence built in 1806 for Mr. and Mrs. McCulloh, who were married that year, Mrs. McCulloh being Miss Mary Clarke, daughter of Robert and Rebecca Clarke who, during the Revolutionary War period, were the owners of practically all the forest land in and around the present site of Frostburg and whose home was on what is now known as the "Vale Farm," near Vale Summit.

After spending a few years of their married life in the frame house, Mr. and Mrs. McCulloh had the building replaced with the present brick structure, which later became the home of the late Dr. James M. Porter and is known by most of the older members of the present generation as the "Dr. Porter Home."

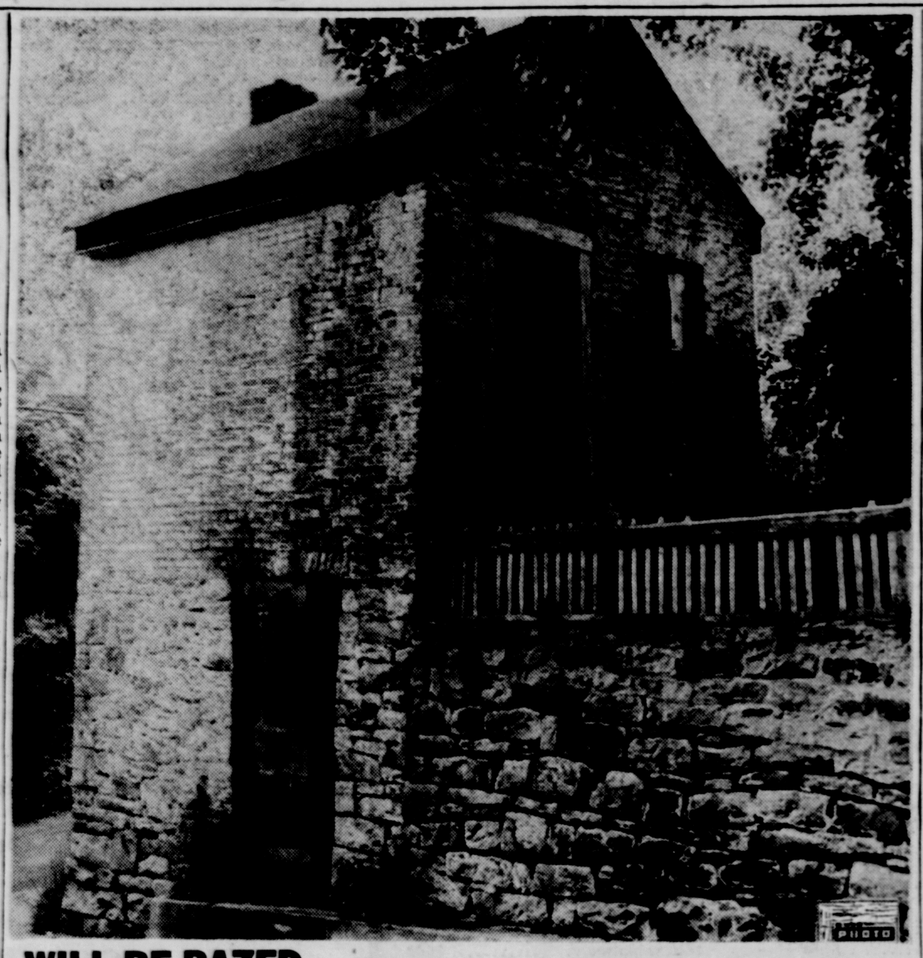
Since the death of Dr. Porter, the place has been owned by various persons, including the late Daniel and John McMullen, who sold the property to the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan E. Shaffer. In 1912, the property was purchased from the Shaffers by Mrs. Dora Willison and the late Lawrence D. Willison, at that time a prominent building contractor. After purchasing the property, Mr. and Mrs. Willison spent many thousands of dollars on the building, which was referred to in a special edition of the Frostburg Mining Journal published by the late J. B. Oder February 13, 1915 as "Mr. Willison's Jeffersonian re-model into one of Frostburg's most imposing residences."

The building committee of the Frostburg Elks have already made improvements to the second story of the front porch and have awarded a contract for the repainting of the exterior of the entire building. Plans are being drafted for a new addition in the rear, measuring 50 by 45 feet and one story in height. This proposed addition will make more room available for the lounge rooms and social activities. The improvement plans also provide for re-carpeting and re-decorating the interior of first floor rooms and the re-decorating of the second floor lodge room, which is also used as a ballroom.

Since the building was purchased by the Elks from Mrs. Dora Willison February 14, 1939, it has undergone many changes, but many traces of the original architectural beauty have been untouched, the idea being to preserve the original dignity of the better homes constructed in the early days of the last century.

One of the most imposing monuments in Allegany Cemetery is erected to the memory of the builders and first occupants of the present Elks Home. It is inscribed as follows:

"George McCulloh, born March 6, 1782, Died December 27, 1854; Mary C., his wife, born April 20, 1790, Died February 9, 1876."



WILL BE RAZED-- Shown above is the reputed slave quarters of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McCulloh, early settlers of Frostburg, which will soon be torn dwon to make room for an addition to the Frostburg Elks Home. The present site of the Elks home was originally occupied by the McCulloh home, which was constructed in 1806. The second story of the porch at the Elks home has already been improved and a contract has been let for the repainting of the whole exterior.

Stewart And Elias Go To GOP Convention

FROSTBURG—Judge of the Orphans Court A. Charles Stewart and Thomas Elias, this city, left Sunday for Philadelphia to attend the Republican National Convention.

Stewart, a past grand trustee of the B. P. O. Elks, is acquainted with delegates from several states with whom he was associated as a member of the Grand Lodge of Elks.

Elias has been a member of the State Central Committee of the Republican Party of Allegany County for the past 13 years. Both Stewart and Elias are acquaintances of William Livingood, Meyersdale, Pa., Secretary of State of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who is the sergeant-at-arms at the Republican Convention.

Tucker Co. Court Names Dr. Michaels To Post

PARSONS, W. Va.—At the June meeting of the Tucker County Court Dr. Guy Michaels, Parsons, was recommended by the court to the State Health Department as county health officer to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. F. K. Lyons to June 30, 1950.

The county has been without a county health officer since the death of Dr. Lyons several months ago.

The court also approved the purchase of 18 storm windows for the jail and sheriff's residence at an approximate cost of $700.

Camp Nemacolin To Open July 1

OAKLAND—Deep Creek Lake can boast of another recreational asset when the newly-built Camp Nemacolin opens on July 1. The camp, which was designed and constructed by Dr. Thomas Gordon Bennett, health consultant for the Kellogg Foundation, is intended for a boys' camp during the summer months, and an adult camp in the fall, having a capacity of about 100 campers.

Camp Nemacolin is located on the Glendale road and consists of 18 acres of wooded land with an extensive water frontage. Dr. Bennett has built a lodge of oak logs, 97 by 63 feet, which will serve as the main building. It houses an assembly room, 36 by 30 feet, with fireplaces at both ends. The 50 by 24-foot dining room has a capacity of 120 persons. Mrs. Bennett, a trained dietition, will be in charge.

Four cabins on the acreage will house from 10 to 12 boys each. Additional sleeping quarters are provided in a series of rooms with connecting baths on the ground floor of the lodge.

Dr. Bennett has been affiliated with youth instruction for many years, receiving his doctorate in education and health from Columbia University. He is a graduate of Western Maryland, 1909, and is a former superintendent of schools of Anne Arundel County.

Pajama Factory To Be Remodeled

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Pajama Factory, employing 215 persons, most of them women, was shut down Friday for the summer months for repairs. The plant, according to local officials, will reopen about September 1.

Thomas Elias, president of the Frostburg Business Association, stated that one of the owners of the plant, which is operated by the Michael Berkowitz Company, New York, informed him Friday that the plant was to be remodeled and reopened as a shirt factory. The plant, Elias said he was informed, is too small for the manufacture of pajamas. The pajamas will be made at the company's Uniontown, Pa., plant in the future.

The first step in the reconversion started last Wednesday when the first stitching machines were shut down and dismantling operations began in that department.

The next steps in the total shutdown would be the completion of final work in pressing, boxing and shipping departments. A skeleton crew of machine operators will remain for a few days to finish work which is already in the process of manufacture, and workmen are now tearing up floors of the building in preparation for the remodeling work.

Employes stated that company officials assured them every effort would be made to re-employ all of the present workers, while adding a few more men to the payroll.

Dr. N. L. Engelhardt, Sr., will speak to the group one afternoon and there will also be faculty meetings in all the 47 schools to discuss a detailed preparation for the opening of school on September 7.

Oakland Industry To Be Considered

OAKLAND—The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce will bring Gayle W. Arnold, manager of industrial development for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, here to speak to its members some time in July, it was announced at a recent meeting. Arnold will discuss possibilities of a small industrial development in or near Oakland. Charles L. Briner, president of the organization, said the meeting would be a dinner affair for all members.

Another matter discussed at the meeting was a letter from Ronald E. McIntire, House of Delegates, in which he reported a talk with state forester Joseph F. Kaylor regarding a public picnic area at Deep Creek Lake. Kaylor was much interested in furthering the project, McIntire said. The Chamber also considered placing picnic tables and fire-places on the "islands" formed between the new and old sections of route 219, now under reconstruction.

Members of the chamber from Deep Creek Lake suggested a drive to remove driftwood from the lake. Because the lake is at its highest point, a number of logs have been set adrift, causing danger to boating, members said.

Letters are to be sent to boat owners asking that they donate their time and boats on June 24 to clear the water of obstructions.

There are now 614 motor boats on the lake and 265 rowboats, sailboats and canoes, thus far, according to game wardens there.

Miss Dawson Wed To Eston Crites

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Miss Anna Jane Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Dawson, Keyser, became the bride of Eston Lee Crites, son of Mrs. Lola Crites, Moorefield, on June 12 at 6:30 p. m. at the home of the bride. Rev. H. S. Meryle, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, performed the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a light blue street length dress with white and blue accessories and a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Hugh Boyce, Westernport, Md., who wore a navy blue gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweet peas. Hugh Boyce was best man for the groom.

Those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Dawson, Mrs. H. S. Meryl, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold G. Bailey, Arnold Lee Bailey, Una Frances Dawson, Roxena Dawson, Mary Louise Dawson, Shirly Evone Dawson, Ruth Dawson.

A reception was held at the home of the bride after the wedding. The young couple left for East Liverpool, Ohio, on their honeymoon, and will be at home in Westernport on their return.

Mrs. Crites is a graduate of Keyser High School and Mr. Crites is employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company mill at Luke, Md.

Louise McKinney's Wedding Revealed

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Russell McKinney, Coketon, announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorcas Louise, to Lester James Robertson, son of Mrs. Myrtle Robertson, Philadelphia, Pa., on February 14.

The ceremony was read in the parsonage of First Baptist Church, Elkton, Md., with Rev. Powell officiating.

For her marriage the bride wore a street-length dress of winter white with navy blue accessories complemented with a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Evangeline Ross, Wilmington, Del., sister of the bride, was their only attendant.

Mrs. Robertson, a graduate of Stratton High School in 1944, received her degree from Storer College, Harper's Ferry, in 1947. She is now a teacher in Coketon schools.

Mr. Robertson, a graduate of Storer College in 1947, is now attending Columbia University in New York City.

Miss Weatherholtz Is Wed To Leslie Helmick

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Miss Grace Weatherholtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weatherholtz, and Leslie Helmick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Helmick, both of Moorefield, were married June 12 in Cumberland by Rev. Hamilton.

Mrs. Hamilton is a graduate of Moorefield High School, class of 1948. Mr. Helmick served several years in the U. S. Army and is now employed at McCoy's Grand Theatre.

Williams Heads Lodge

PARSONS, W. Va.—H. L. Williams, Davis, was elected worshipful master of Fairfax Lodge No. 96, A.F. and A.M., at a meeting last week. Other officers elected were B. T. Walters, senior warden; H. K. Kackley, junior warden; Ralph Good, senior deacon; Wayne Spiggle, junior deacon; Ted Collins, treasurer; Belmont S. Cleaver, secretary; Asbury Cleaver, Tyler, and Wilburn Fansler and Ellery Hinkle, stewards.

HOLLYWOOD, June 20—(INS)—The guessing is all over. It is Patricia Neal in "The Fountainhead." This is set, signed and sealed right on the heels of last week's hot rumor that Bette Davis had it wrapped up.

Miriam Hopkins

Before that, Lauren Bacall, Barbara Stanwyck and Garbo all had been mentioned.

Pat, the dark horse in the race, gets the plum because of an exceptionally fine test she made for King Vidor, plus the excitement on the Warner lot over her in "John Loves Mary"—not yet released.

Richard Carlson, lieutenant in the Navy during the war, gets back in uniform to take on the Henry Fonda role in "Mr. Roberts" in Chicago. Producer Leland Hayward opens the new company in Detroit in August before settling it in Chicago for a certain long run.

●—●—●

Miriam Hopkins, gay, vivacious and so young looking, almost stole the show from the guest of honor at the Paramount party for Ralph Richardson. She doesn't look a day older than she did 15 years ago.

Richardson, imported from London for "The Heiress," came off all right in his first tussle with the Hollywood press and even ate the little hamburger hors d'ouevres.

His attractive wife chatted with Olivia De Havilland—star of "The Heiress"—most of the afternoon.

Harry Popkin had candid camera shots made of the "scenes" made by Laraine Day during the shooting of "My Dear Secretary" and when he caught the train for New York Saturday he had the complete album under his arm, captioned "How not to act when you're acting."

When he gets to New York, he is sending it to Laraine. It will have oue of two results: Make this producer-star feud even worse. Or, if she has the sense of humor she once had, she will laugh like you know what.

The wealthy parents of Michael Lawrence cut him off without a dime when he married Patty Wheeler, cute 18-year-old daughter of Bert Wheeler. But, if you think this is getting the kids down, guess again.

They have taken jobs as sales clerks in John Wanamaker's department store daytimes while Mike completes a night course in law at New York University and Patty completes the two years she missed in high school.

Hollywood in shorts: The hottest romance in London (Louella Parsons cables) is little Jean Simmons and Stewart Grainger. She is officially a star since "Great Expectations" and there are great expectations she soon will be a bride.

More secret marriages popping up! Anita Gordon, singer on the Edgar Bergen show, has been married to Dale Sheets since June 8. The knot was tied in a small town in Oklahoma.

And, John Lee Mahin, former husband of Patsy Ruth Miller, has been married to Barbara Bonnet for two weeks without anyone finding it out.

Remember wee Bonnie Baker? She is expecting a wee arrival in November. In private life, the girl who sang her way to fame with "Oh, Johnny" is Mrs. Frank Taylor.

California's community property laws do all right by the men, too. Barbara Barondess Maclean, the successful designer, settles $100,000 on Douglas MaClean in their property settlement.

The Al Newmans (she is the former Martha Montgomery, the beautiful glamor girl) have just found out they are on the stork's route in December.

Smiley, the cat that Allen Jenkins said was "at the wheel" when he was pulled in on a drunk-driving charge, is turning professional. He will be the star attraction in a vaudeville act just whipped up by Allen and two other kindred souls at Malibu. They previewed the show at the Seacombers and the cat is a wow.

That newly married couple—supposedly so happy—are having battle after battle. He is said to have dropped $50,000 at Las Vegas gambling tables since their wedding there.

Vera-Ellen, who has been dating steadily with Rory Calhoun, dated Douglas Dick at the Dells, Euphonious, ain't it?

Starkey, Goss, Marsh Favored In Bouts Here

Fights At Armory To Start At 8 P. M.

Randall "Skeets" Starkey and Bill Mann, Cumberland's outstanding amateur middleweight boxers, will finally get together in the ring when they clash in the five-round feature match of the Diamond Athletic Club show tonight at the State Armory.

Starkey, winner of 22 out of 32 ring engagements, has been installed the favorite over the negro knockout artist who has won 13 bouts, eight via the knockout route, and has lost five times, being stopped on two occasions.

The Starkey-Mann go is the fifth on tonight's program for which Jim Klosterman is the matchmaker.

Goss, Marsh Favored

Bobby Goss, local flyweight, should whip John Choby, of Windber, Pa., in one of the three round prelims and Eddie Marsh, one of the best featherweights in Western Pennsylvania, is expected to defeat Jimmie Catanese.

Choby decisioned Jimmie Deetz at Johnstown, Pa., in March, and he lost in three appearances here this year. He outpointed Ted Banks, a novice, and lost to Earl Smith and "Sonny" Lafferty. Goss will be angling for his 18th win. He has won 17 and lost 7.

Marsh, winner in the Pittsburgh Dapper Dan Tourney, will be making his 4th appearance here. He lost to Goss in October 1946, stopped Frankie Lisanti last September and followed up with a win over Catanese here in February. Cantanese's record is 18 wins, 18 losses.

Other bouts on tonight's card include:

Jake Koelker, 126, Diamond A.C. and Jim Folk, 126, Royale A.C.

Jesse Bean, 126, Diamond A.C. vs. Ray Burnhinner, 126, Windber, Pa.

Jack Klosterman, 148 Diamond A.C. vs. Andy Smoller, Windber, Pa.

Meet In Return Bout

The Folk-Koelker match is a return affair, Folk having won the "duke" in the initial bout. Folk will be seeking his 8th straight victory. Stewart will be making his fourth start. He stopped Al Parks and Frank Metz and was decisioned by Bill Walker. Jones has lost three of four amateur matches. Russell Bean has won five and lost five.

James E. Kelley, Jr., will referee all bouts. The show will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Pittsburgh Splits With Philadelphia

Ralph Kiner Hits 18th And 19th Four-Baggers

PHILADELPHIA, June 20 (INS)—Ralph Kiner of the Pirates hit his 18th and 19th home runs of the year as Pittsburgh split a twin bill with the Phillies today, losing the first, 9-0, and winning the second 7-5.

Kiner's home runs were hit in successive times at bat in the second game and put him 14 days ahead of his record last year when he hit his 19th on July 4 against Ed Lively of Cincinnati.

In the first game Dutch Leonard held Pittsburgh to four hits as his mates pounded three Pirate hurlers for 15 hits and Richie Ashburn stole his 17th base of the season. Box:

KRAMER BEATS RIGGS FOR PRO TENNIS TITLE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 20. (INS)—Jack Kramer of Montebello, Calif., today dethroned Bobby Riggs as the National Professional Tennis singles champion.

Kramer won the finals at Forest Hills by 14-12, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Riggs blew the first set after leading 5-3. The loss of this chapter, which consumed an hour and five minutes, "sapped me of valuable strength," in Riggs' opinion, and cost him the match.

BRAVES SIGN HURLER CONNIE MACK FIRED

BOSTON, June 20. (INS)—The Boston Braves announced today they have signed Nelson Potter, veteran pitcher who recently was fired by Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Before that, Potter was with the St. Louis Browns. He is expected to report in Boston Tuesday.

Harry Barton Ties McDonald In Trapshoot

Both Break 98 x 100; Jordan Cops Handicap

Breaking 98 out of 100 targets, Harry Barton, well known dairyman of Pinto, Md., tied Ed. McDonald, veteran gunner of Headsville, W. Va., for high gun in the 16-yard singles event of the fourth registered trapshooting tournament of the season held yesterday at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Dr. W. H. Yeager of Hagerstown and R. C. "Tony" Renner of Winchester, Va., smashed 97 targets each to tie for runner-up honors.

Charles "Lefty" Jordan of Cumberland led a field of 14 competitors in the 50-target handicap event by shattering 49 from the 20-yard line. Shooting from 19 yards Harry Barton tied Russell McElfish of Cumberland for second place, each gunner having picked off 48 targets. McElfish fired from 18 yards.

After tying for high gun in the singles, McDonald came back to win the doubles by smashing 46 out of 50 targets. McElfish was second with 42.

The shoot was cashiered by Walter Bittner.

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club's next registered event is scheduled for Sunday, July 4. Yesterday scores:

Frostburg Legion Nine To Play Midland Today

Farrady Post No. 24 of Frostburg will play host to Midland Post today at 5:30 p. m. in a Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League game at Frostburg Teachers' College Field.

The Cumberland - Grantsville game scheduled here today has been postponed on account of a carnival holding forth at Community Park.

Transfer of the Cumberland-Frostburg game in Frostburg on Thursday at 5:30 was announced last night by Manager Eddie Diehl.

A meeting of Fort Cumberland Post junior tossers will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Legion Home.

City Softball Teams To Play Four Games

North End plays the Amvets at Campobello, Lacy's faces Astor Cab at Rolling Mill Field, Reed's tangles with Joe's Crusaders at Taylor Field and Ballard's opposes Mower's Bakery at East Side.

Boston's Braves Strengthen Grip On First Place

Top Reds 5-4 And 4-1 Before 32,812 Fans

BOSTON, June 20—(AP) — The Boston Braves strengthened their slim grip on the National League's first place today by twice defeating the Cincinnati Reds 5-4, and 4-1, their fifth and sixth victories in succession, before a paid audience of 32,812.

The Tribesmen assured their first game triumph by throttling a Red rally in the ninth after two runs had been scored. Vern Bickford had a shutout in the nightcap until the Reds pushed across one in the eighth.

Earl Torgeson, who stole his 13th and 14th bases in as many attempts in the second game, stroked his fourth homer of the season in the opener to assist Red Barrett to his fourth triumph. Box:

GIANTS, CARDS DIVIDE

NEW YORK, June 20. (INS)—The New York Giants made four home runs, two of them by Johnny Mize, and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in the second game of a twin bill today, 6 to 4, after losing the opener 7 to 2.

In the first game Murry Dickson went the route for the Cardinals while his mates knocked out Monte Kennedy, recalled by the Giants from Minneapolis where he had pitched a no-hitter. Stan Musial, Country Slaughter and Terry Moore drove in four runs for St. Louis with homers. Box:

CUBS SWEEP SERIES

NEW YORK, June 30. (INS)—The tail-end Chicago Cubs defeated Brooklyn today, 6 to 3, to sweep their three-game series.

Russ Meyer, Chicago's screwball expert, was credited with the win but had to be relieved in the eighth inning by Emil Kush, who retired the last five Brooklyn batters in order.

Frostburg's VFW swatsmiths scored nine runs in the fourth inning to trounce the Cumberland Amvets to the tune of 11-4 in a Bi - State Baseball League game yesterday at Frostburg before approximately 1,500 persons.

The big inning was marked by eight hits coupled with two bases on balls and a hit batsman. During the bombardment Harold Scott, Bob Cook, and William "Jaggers" Drew hit two-baggers, and Raines, Lauber, Urbas, Shaffer and Bob Cook larruped singles.

Al "Lefty" Lauber went the distance for Frostburg and kept the Amvets' eight hits well spaced. Norm Gerdeman and Danny Drew garnered two singles each and Strauss walloped a triple. For Frostburg Harold Scott had a triple and double, Manager Frank Urbas three singles, Bob Cook two singles and a double, Joe Langan two doubles and "Jaggers" Drew a pair of two-baggers.

Keyser Drops 13th In Row

Westvaco retained its 1½ games lead over Frostburg by handing Keyser its 13th consecutive defeat at Keyser, 6-5. The Papermakers broke a 5-5 deadlock in the 6th when "Pete' Deremer doubled and scored on an outfield error. Mosser, of Westvaco, hit safely four times in five trips to the plate while Ward and Rotruck shared six of Keyser's 12 hits. Barnhouse, Keyser shortstop, and Deremer, Westvaco shortstop, featured afield.

Salyan Blanks 'Coney

Henry Salyan yielded six hits and struck out 14 as the Hyndman Firemen downed the Lonaconing Republican Club at 'Coney, 2-0. Claude Steele, making his first appearance of the season on the runner, gave up only seven hits and fanned eight. Willison drove in both of Hyndman's runs with timely singles. In the 7th his single followed Lucas's base hit and Tuscano's infield safety. In the 9th Lucas and Tuscano hit safely and then Willison rapped a hit to right to drive in the second tally. 'Coney loaded the bases in the 9th when Stafford singled, Cooke doubled and Broadwater walked but Salyan fanned Genevie for the final out.

Barton Beats Mt. Savage

Mt. Savage outhit Barton 13-7 but went down to defeat on its home diamond by the score of 7-3.

Inskeep accounted for two of Barton's seven hits while Alton Nave and George Shaffer rapped out three safeties each for the losers. Johnny Workman who made his how with Mt. Savage was the loser. He struck out nine and was relieved by Ralph Dickel in the 9th. Tommy Warnick of Barton tripled but was thrown out at the plate by Earl "Lefty" Bruce, Allegany High star, who made his debut with Mt. Savage, and featured with his fast fielding. Noonan went the route for Barton.

Woodson Masters Midland

Junior Woodson tossed a five-hitter and fanned nine as the Queen City Brewers took Midland into camp at Midland by the score of 9-1. Cower with a single and double led the Queen City hitters while Danny Thomas hit safely three times for Midland. The scores:

Wins Cycle Race

LACONIA, N. H., June 20 (INS)—Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., won the 100-mile motorcycle road race championship in record time today at the 28th annual national motorcycle riders jamboree.

His time was 2:03.06 to beat the record of 2 hours and 7 seconds set by Ed Kretz of Monterey Park, Calif., two years ago.

LOCKE WINS BY 16 STROKES BY POSTING 18-UNDER-PAR 266

CHICAGO, June 20—(AP)—In one of golf's greatest one-man shows, methodical Bobby Locke hammered a final round 66 today for a 72-hole total of 266—18 under Midlothian's par and a winning margin of 16 strokes over Ellsworth Vines in the $15,000 Chicago Open Golf tournament.

Bobby Locke

The victory margin which brought the putting master a $2,000 first prize was the greatest in three years of P. G. A. sponsored major tournaments. Ben Hogan shot a 261 to win the Portland, Ore., Open in 1945 with a 17 stroke margin over second place Byron Nelson.

The Cumberland Legion team was idle.

Moorefield sewed up the game by scoring ten runs in the first inning. The winners raced up 16 hits, Warden Hott showing the way with two doubles and a single and four runs batted-in. George Hott connected for a triple and double while Keller and Harman banged two-baggers. Speir, Riggleman and Bennett had two hits each for Ridgeley.

Johnny Vance pitched two and one-third innings of hitless ball after relieving Fitzwater in the 7th. Dwight Kessel's one-handed stab of a drive in right field for the final out of the game was the fielding highlight.

Swick Hurls Two-Hitter

Swick, Romney twirler, had a no-run, no-hit game in his grasp until the ninth inning when Al Martin's double to left and Jimmie Radcliffe's single through the box into centerfield gave the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose their lone run as the Rockets scored a 12-1 victory over the locals at Stitcher Field. Swick struck out ten batsmen.

Romney collected 18 hits, Henderson, McGee and Swick getting three each while Turner, Corbin, Frye and Loy had two apiece.

Rose's Homer Decides

Stitcher Wins For Eagles

The Cumberland Eagles greeted Clarence "Buck" Shaw, Fort Hill pitching star, making his debut with Barrelville, with 11 hits and won at Community Park by the score of 10-1.

Lefty Lou Stitcher limited the visitors to five hits and threw the third strike past nine batsmen. The only run he yielded was unearned. "Pete" Elliott was the batting and fielding star for the Eagles. He rapped a triple and single, hammered home four runs, snared a hot grounder back of third and threw out the batter and started a ninth inning double play. McProuty hit two singles, Johnny Miller got a double and single and Ted Durbin tripled for the Eagles. The scores:

Robinson, Louis Favored To Win Bouts This Week

Sugar Faces Docusen At Chicago Tonight

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Joe Louis makes the 25th defense of his heavyweight championship Wednesday night in Yankee Stadium in the eagerly awaited return 15-rounder with Jersey Joe Walcott.

This may be Louis' swan song after a reign of 11 years and a crowd of around 55,000 is expected to pay close to $1,000,000 to see the two negroes in action again.

Louis Is Favorite

Both fighters are in top physical condition and have showed well in their recent workouts Louis, after several dismal performances at his Pompton Lakes, N. J., training camp, has begun to look like a reasonable facsimile of the old Brown Bomber.

He is not as fast afoot as before, of course, but he has begun to hit with the viciousness that brought him to the heights. Joe's handlers are delighted with his return to form and are looking forward to a quick knockout.

Louis himself has said he will stop Walcott fast but The Bomber has been training to go all the way as he was forced to last Dec. 5 when he won a disputed, split decision.

Walcott has been gearing himself to get the limit, hoping once again to dismay the champ with his shifty, elusive tactics. Optimism is high, too, in his camp and there is much talk of a Walcott knockout victory.

The heavyweight title fight will be the second championship scrap of the week.

Welter Title At Stake

The once-postponed Ray Robinson-Bernie Docusen welterweight title, now set for tomorrow in Chicago's Comiskey Park, has been cast in the shadows by the excitement over the big boys.

Robinson, the champ from Harlem, barely made the 147-pound limit at the weigh-in Thursday after considerable effort. He'll have to weigh in again tomorrow and undoubtedly will be weakened by his weight ordeal.

Docusen, the lightning fast kid from New Orleans, has no weight problem. His major consideration is the power Robinson packs in both hands. Despite his weight troubles, Robinson, a heavy favorite, shouldn't have too much difficulty with Docusen.

Another champion, featherweight titleholder Willie Pep, will fight this week.

The classy Hartford, Conn., boxer, will tangle with Luther Burgess of Detroit in an overweight, non-title ten at Flint, Mich. Pep, in an unusual move, agreed to substitute for Jackie Graves who was forced out by a hand injury.

Oakland Marks Up 6th Straight Win

Shallmar Grabs Lead, Tops Kitzmiller, 7-3

Oakland's Amvets tied Kitzmiller for second place in the Upper Potomac Baseball League by defeating Crellin yesterday at Oakland by the score of 5-1 before a gathering of 500 persons. It was Oakland's sixth consecutive victory.

Oakland has won 10 and lost 5.

Shallmar took over first place (9-4) by defeating Kitzmiller yesterday by the score of 7-3.

In the contest at Oakland, Bob Glaze yielded two hits and struck out 12. Only 24 batsmen faced him in the last seven innings. "Boots" Wolfe paced the Amvets at the plate with two doubles and a single in four trips. Lewis got two hits for Crellin.

"Buck" Iser whiffed 12 batsmen as Elk Garden registered a 5-1 victory over Loch Lynn at the latter place. All of the scoring in this game was done in the last three innings. Iser twirled hitless ball for seven frames. Elwood Morris accounted for three of Elk Garden's nine bingles. The scores:

Starkey And Mann Head D.A.C. Fight Card Tonight

Fights At Armory To Start At 8 P. M.

Randall "Skeets" Starkey and Bill Mann, Cumberland's outstanding amateur middleweight boxers, will finally get together in the ring when they clash in the five-round feature match of the Diamond Athletic Club show tonight at the State Armory.

Starkey, winner of 22 out of 32 ring engagements, has been installed the favorite over the negro knockout artist who has won 13 bouts, eight via the knockout route, and has lost five times, being stopped on two occasions.

The Starkey-Mann go is the fifth on tonight's program for which Jim Klosterman is the matchmaker.

Goss, Marsh Favored

Bobby Goss, local flyweight, should whip John Choby, of Windber, Pa., in one of the three round prelims and Eddie Marsh, one of the best featherweights in Western Pennsylvania, is expected to defeat Jimmie Catanese.

Choby decisioned Jimmie Deetz at Johnstown, Pa., in March, and he lost in three appearances here this year. He outpointed Ted Banks, a novice, and lost to Earl Smith and "Sonny" Lafferty. Goss will be angling for his 18th win. He has won 17 and lost 7.

Marsh, winner in the Pittsburgh Dapper Dan Tourney, will be making his 4th appearance here. He lost to Goss in October 1946, stopped Frankie Lisanti last September and followed up with a win over Catanese here in February. Cantanese's record is 18 wins, 18 losses.

Other bouts on tonight's card include:

Jake Koelker, 126, Diamond A.C. and Jim Folk, 126, Royale A.C.

Jesse Bean, 126, Diamond A.C. vs. Ray Burnhinner, 126, Windber, Pa.

Jack Klosterman, 148 Diamond A.C. vs. Andy Smoller, Windber, Pa.

Meet In Return Bout

The Folk-Koelker match is a return affair, Folk having won the "duke" in the initial bout. Folk will be seeking his 8th straight victory. Stewart will be making his fourth start. He stopped Al Parks and Frank Metz and was decisioned by Bill Walker. Jones has lost three of four amateur matches. Russell Bean has won five and lost five.

James E. Kelley, Jr., will referee all bouts. The show will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Pittsburgh Splits With Philadelphia

Ralph Kiner Hits 18th And 19th Four-Baggers

PHILADELPHIA, June 20 (INS)—Ralph Kiner of the Pirates hit his 18th and 19th home runs of the year as Pittsburgh split a twin bill with the Phillies today, losing the first, 9-0, and winning the second 7-5.

Kiner's home runs were hit in successive times at bat in the second game and put him 14 days ahead of his record last year when he hit his 19th on July 4 against Ed Lively of Cincinnati.

In the first game Dutch Leonard held Pittsburgh to four hits as his mates pounded three Pirate hurlers for 15 hits and Richie Ashburn stole his 17th base of the season. Box:

KRAMER BEATS RIGGS FOR PRO TENNIS TITLE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 20. (INS)—Jack Kramer of Montebello, Calif., today dethroned Bobby Riggs as the National Professional Tennis singles champion.

Kramer won the finals at Forest Hills by 14-12, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Riggs blew the first set after leading 5-3. The loss of this chapter, which consumed an hour and five minutes, "sapped me of valuable strength," in Riggs' opinion, and cost him the match.

BRAVES SIGN HURLER CONNIE MACK FIRED

BOSTON, June 20. (INS)—The Boston Braves announced today they have signed Nelson Potter, veteran pitcher who recently was fired by Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Before that, Potter was with the St. Louis Browns. He is expected to report in Boston Tuesday.

Harry Barton Ties McDonald In Trapshoot

Both Break 98 x 100; Jordan Cops Handicap

Breaking 98 out of 100 targets, Harry Barton, well known dairyman of Pinto, Md., tied Ed. McDonald, veteran gunner of Headsville, W. Va., for high gun in the 16-yard singles event of the fourth registered trapshooting tournament of the season held yesterday at the traps of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Dr. W. H. Yeager of Hagerstown and R. C. "Tony" Renner of Winchester, Va., smashed 97 targets each to tie for runner-up honors.

Charles "Lefty" Jordan of Cumberland led a field of 14 competitors in the 50-target handicap event by shattering 49 from the 20-yard line. Shooting from 19 yards Harry Barton tied Russell McElfish of Cumberland for second place, each gunner having picked off 48 targets. McElfish fired from 18 yards.

After tying for high gun in the singles, McDonald came back to win the doubles by smashing 46 out of 50 targets. McElfish was second with 42.

The shoot was cashiered by Walter Bittner.

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club's next registered event is scheduled for Sunday, July 4. Yesterday scores:

Boston's Braves Strengthen Grip On First Place

Top Reds 5-4 And 4-1 Before 32,812 Fans

BOSTON, June 20—(AP) — The Boston Braves strengthened their slim grip on the National League's first place today by twice defeating the Cincinnati Reds 5-4, and 4-1, their fifth and sixth victories in succession, before a paid audience of 32,812.

The Tribesmen assured their first game triumph by throttling a Red rally in the ninth after two runs had been scored. Vern Bickford had a shutout in the nightcap until the Reds pushed across one in the eighth.

Earl Torgeson, who stole his 13th and 14th bases in as many attempts in the second game, stroked his fourth homer of the season in the opener to assist Red Barrett to his fourth triumph. Box:

Frostburg's VFW swatsmiths scored nine runs in the fourth inning to trounce the Cumberland Amvets to the tune of 11-4 in a Bi - State Baseball League game yesterday at Frostburg before approximately 1,500 persons.

The big inning was marked by eight hits coupled with two bases on balls and a hit batsman. During the bombardment Harold Scott, Bob Cook, and William "Jaggers" Drew hit two-baggers, and Raines, Lauber, Urbas, Shaffer and Bob Cook larruped singles.

Al "Lefty" Lauber went the distance for Frostburg and kept the Amvets' eight hits well spaced. Norm Gerdeman and Danny Drew garnered two singles each and Strauss walloped a triple. For Frostburg Harold Scott had a triple and double, Manager Frank Urbas three singles, Bob Cook two singles and a double, Joe Langan two doubles and "Jaggers" Drew a pair of two-baggers.

Keyser Drops 13th In Row

Westvaco retained its 1½ games lead over Frostburg by handing Keyser its 13th consecutive defeat at Keyser, 6-5. The Papermakers broke a 5-5 deadlock in the 6th when "Pete' Deremer doubled and scored on an outfield error. Mosser, of Westvaco, hit safely four times in five trips to the plate while Ward and Rotruck shared six of Keyser's 12 hits. Barnhouse, Keyser shortstop, and Deremer, Westvaco shortstop, featured afield.

Salyan Blanks 'Coney

Henry Salyan yielded six hits and struck out 14 as the Hyndman Firemen downed the Lonaconing Republican Club at 'Coney, 2-0. Claude Steele, making his first appearance of the season on the runner, gave up only seven hits and fanned eight. Willison drove in both of Hyndman's runs with timely singles. In the 7th his single followed Lucas's base hit and Tuscano's infield safety. In the 9th Lucas and Tuscano hit safely and then Willison rapped a hit to right to drive in the second tally. 'Coney loaded the bases in the 9th when Stafford singled, Cooke doubled and Broadwater walked but Salyan fanned Genevie for the final out.

Barton Beats Mt. Savage

Mt. Savage outhit Barton 13-7 but went down to defeat on its home diamond by the score of 7-3.

Inskeep accounted for two of Barton's seven hits while Alton Nave and George Shaffer rapped out three safeties each for the losers. Johnny Workman who made his how with Mt. Savage was the loser. He struck out nine and was relieved by Ralph Dickel in the 9th. Tommy Warnick of Barton tripled but was thrown out at the plate by Earl "Lefty" Bruce, Allegany High star, wh made his debut with Mt. Savage, and featured with his fast fielding. Noonan went the route for Barton.

Woodson Masters Midland

Junior Woodson tossed a five-hitter and fanned nine as the Queen City Brewers took Midland into camp at Midland by the score of 9-1. Cower with a single and double led the Queen City hitters while Danny Thomas hit safely three times for Midland. The scores:

Moorefield pulled up a half-game in the rear of the pace setting Cumberland American Legion team yesterday by defeating the Ridgeley Legion in an Interstate League game at Moorefield by the score of 12-6.

The Cumberland Legion team was idle.

Moorefield sewed up the game by scoring ten runs in the first inning. The winners raced up 16 hits, Warden Hott showing the way with two doubles and a single and four runs batted-in. George Hott connected for a triple and double while Keller and Harman banged two-baggers. Speir, Riggleman and Bennett had two hits each for Ridgeley.

Johnny Vance pitched two and one-third innings of hitless ball after relieving Fitzwater in the 7th. Dwight Kessel's one-handed stab of a drive in right field for the final out of the game was the fielding highlight.

Swick Hurls Two-Hitter

Swick, Romney twirler, had a no-run, no-hit game in his grasp until the ninth inning when Al Martin's double to left and Jimmie Radcliffe's single through the box into centerfield gave the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose their lone run as the Rockets scored a 12-1 victory over the locals at Stitcher Field. Swick struck out ten batsmen.

Romney collected 18 hits, Henderson, McGee and Swick getting three each while Turner, Corbin, Frye and Loy had two apiece.

Rose's Homer Decides

Stitcher Wins For Eagles

The Cumberland Eagles greeted Clarence "Buck" Shaw, Fort Hill pitching star, making his debut with Barrelville, with 11 hits and won at Community Park by the score of 10-1.

Lefty Lou Stitcher limited the visitors to five hits and threw the third strike past nine batsmen. The only run he yielded was unearned. "Pete" Elliott was the batting and fielding star for the Eagles. He rapped a triple and single, hammered home four runs, snared a hot grounder back of third and threw out the batter and started a ninth inning double play. McProuty hit two singles, Johnny Miller got a double and single and Ted Durbin tripled for the Eagles. The scores:

Robinson, Louis Favored To Win Bouts This Week

Sugar Faces Docusen At Chicago Tonight

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Joe Louis makes the 25th defense of his heavyweight championship Wednesday night in Yankee Stadium in the eagerly awaited return 15-rounder with Jersey Joe Walcott.

This may be Louis' swan song after a reign of 11 years and a crowd of around 55,000 is expected to pay close to $1,000,000 to see the two negroes in action again.

Louis Is Favorite

Louis is a 5 to 13 favorite to hold onto his crown and a 5 to 6 choice to flatten the Camden, N. J., veteran.

Both fighters are in top physical condition and have showed well in their recent workouts Louis, after several dismal performances at his Pompton Lakes, N. J., training camp, has begun to look like a reasonable facsimile of the old Brown Bomber.

He is not as fast afoot as before, of course, but he has begun to hit with the viciousness that brought him to the heights. Joe's handlers are delighted with his return to form and are looking forward to a quick knockout.

Louis himself has said he will stop Walcott fast but The Bomber has been training to go all the way as he was forced to last Dec. 5 when he won a disputed, split decision.

Walcott has been gearing himself to go the limit, hoping once again to dismay the champ with his shifty, elusive tactics. Optimism is high, too, in his camp and there is much talk of a Walcott knockout victory.

The heavyweight title fight will be the second championship scrap of the week.

Welter Title At Stake

The once-postponed Ray Robinson-Bernie Docusen welterweight title, now set for tomorrow in Chicago's Comiskey Park, has been cast in the shadows by the excitement over the big boys.

Robinson, the champ from Harlem, barely made the 147-pound limit at the weigh-in Thursday after considerable effort. He'll have to weigh in again tomorrow and undoubtedly will be weakened by his weight ordeal.

Docusen, the lightning fast kid from New Orleans, has no weight problem. His major consideration is the power Robinson packs in both hands. Despite his weight troubles, Robinson, a heavy favorite, shouldn't have too much difficulty with Docusen.

Another champion, featherweight titleholder Willie Pep, will fight this week.

The classy Hartford, Conn., boxer, will tangle with Luther Burgess of Detroit in an overweight, non-title ten at Flint, Mich. Pep, in an unusual move, agreed to substitute for Jackie Graves who was forced out by a hand injury.

Oakland Marks Up 6th Straight Win

Shallmar Grabs Lead, Tops Kitzmiller, 7-3

Oakland's Amvets tied Kitzmiller for second place in the Upper Potomac Baseball League by defeating Crellin yesterday at Oakland by the score of 5-1 before a gathering of 500 persons. It was Oakland's sixth consecutive victory.

Oakland has won 10 and lost 5.

Shallmar took over first place (9-4) by defeating Kitzmiller yesterday by the score of 7-3.

In the contest at Oakland, Bob Glaze yielded two hits and struck out 12. Only 24 batsmen faced him in the last seven innings. "Boots" Wolfe paced the Amvets at the plate with two doubles and a single in four trips. Lewis got two hits for Crellin.

"Buck" Iser whiffed 12 batsmen as Elk Garden registered a 5-1 victory over Loch Lynn at the latter place. All of the scoring in this game was done in the last three innings. Iser twirled hitless ball for seven frames. Elwood Morris accounted for three of Elk Garden's nine bingles. The scores:

Emery Drivers Again Reject Company Offer

Emery Motor Coach Lines drivers who have been on strike since May 5, Saturday rejected a new company offer that would, according to union officials, amount to a 10 cent cut in wages and extension of the present contract for another six months.

John M. Elliott, international union representative, and Mrs. Margaret Kimble, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Labor, who has been attempting to aid in a settlement, announced that "the outlook is gloomy."

R. L. Emery, Jr., Martinsburg, W. Va., asserted he believed about 60 per cent of the union membership were satisfied to return to work under the new offer, but Elliott said the membership defeated the motion with 12 drivers voting "no" and two not voting.

The offer, according to Elliott, would have reduced wages 10 cents an hour, but would have reinstated three drivers whom Emery had previously refused to take back.

LAW OFFICE OF EDWARD J. RYAN

William Ford vs. Emma Ford. No. 20704 Equity In the Circuit Court For Allegany County.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states that the parties hereto were married on August 1, 1916, in Cumberland, Maryland, and that two children, namely, William Ford and Samuel Ford, were born of said marriage, both of whom are now legal age; that the defendant on April 1, 1929, without just cause or reason deserted and abandoned the plaintiff and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen (18) months, and is deliberate and final and without any reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland, and that the defendant is a resident of the State of Connecticutt.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 5th day of June, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 6th day of July, 1948, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 22nd day of July, 1948, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

JOSEPH E. BODEN
Clerk of the Circuit Court
for Allegany County, Maryland

Emery Drivers Again Reject Company Offer

Emery Motor Coach Lines drivers who have been on strike since May 5, Saturday rejected a new company offer that would, according to union officials, amount to a 10 cent cut in wages and extension of the present contract for another six months.

John M. Elliott, international union representative, and Mrs. Margaret Kimble, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Labor, who has been attempting to aid in a settlement, announced that "the outlook is gloomy."

R. L. Emery, Jr., Martinsburg, W. Va., asserted he believed about 60 per cent of the union membership were satisfied to return to work under the new offer, but Elliott said the membership defeated the motion with 12 drivers voting "no" and two not voting.

The offer, according to Elliott, would have reduced wages 10 cents an hour, but would have reinstated three drivers whom Emery had previously refused to take back.

LAW OFFICE OF EDWARD J. RYAN

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states that the parties hereto were married on August 1, 1916, in Cumberland, Maryland, and that two children, namely, William Ford and Samuel Ford, were born of said marriage, both of whom are now legal age; that the defendant on April 1, 1929, without just cause or reason deserted and abandoned the plaintiff and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen (18) months, and is deliberate and final and without any reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland, and that the defendant is a resident of the State of Connecticutt.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 5th day of June, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 6th day of July, 1948, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 22nd day of July, 1948, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Over 10,000 Patrons See Air Show Here

One Mishap Reported During Afternoon Show

Approximately 10,000 patrons braved the hot rays of the sun at the Cumberland Airport yesterday afternoon to witness the third annual Greater Cumberland air show.

The program, off to a late start, was featured by a pylon race which ended with a thrilling finish between a Cessna "140" and a Piper "J-3," with the former beating out the latter at the closing second of the three-lap race. The pilot of the Cessna was Harold Dodd, Moorefield, W. Va., who came across the finish line in 37 minutes and 44 seconds. W. L. Kline and his Piper, second place winner, was clocked at 38 minutes flat. A Taylorcraft piloted by Berkey Smith, placed third.

The Maryland National Guard and its P-47's presented a patriotic spectacle never before seen in Cumberland, when they flew in flight formations after taking off at split-second intervals. The final feat, was a mock strafing raid on the crowd, in itself a thrilling climax to the Guard's performance. The all-veteran group had as its leader Lt. Col. Gould.

Jet Fighters Grounded

A disappointment to practically all the patrons was the announcement that the P-80 jet fighters were unable to make the 16-minute trip from Washington due to bad flying weather in the Nation's Capital.

The show was jointly sponsored by the Exchange Club, the Junior Association of Commerce and the Mountain Air Service, and committeemen said the P-80 "Shooting Stars" will make a Sunday appearance in the near future, with no admission to be charged at that time. The other event called off during the afternoon was the tug-of-war.

Bernie Miltenberger, local flyer, amused the crowd when he took his plane up and cut capers with it. He made the young and old alike scream with delight as he bounced around and wiggled the plane's tail.

The thriller during the show was provided by James Armstrong and his Miles-Sparrowhawk. The young war veteran took his English-type plane into every conceivable twist and dive. His rolls at the top of a loop-the-loop, followed by racing it upside down, sent ohs and ahs through the sky-looking audience.

A parachute jump by a Winchester, Va., man, Richard Hockman, ended in the edge of a group of trees. According to Hockman, the wind changed on him, and he was unable to maneuver his chute to safe landing. He escaped the ordeal without even a scratch. Volunteer firemen helped to get him out of a tree.

The stunt-provoking Marine Helicopters took to the air and actually stood still and waved at members in the reviewing stand. The new Leatherneck Rescue Helicopters came to Cumberland from Quantico, Va., and departed immediately following their stunts.

Bloom Is Injured

The only mishap during the afternoon was to Harold V. Bloom, Cumberland, who was struck by a wing tip of a plane during the bombing contest. According to officials at the airport, Bloom was the target of the bombers as he rode in a truck. A plane operated by Thomas Shannon came close to drop a bomb and as he banked his Aeronca, the wing tip struck Bloom on the head, causing him to be rushed to Memorial Hospital, where attaches said he was treated for a head laceration and released. An unidentified girl was also taken to the hospital after she fainted near the reviewing stand.

The spot bombing contest was won by Shannon, with one direct hit, while James Armstrong was second.

In the balloon bursting contest, Armstrong was declared the winner, with Bernie Miltenberger second.

Traffic Moves Fast

Traffic moved in and out of the airfield better this year than any previous show, the sponsors announced last night as they praised law enforcment officers. The Cumberland Police Force had six regulars working, the Cumberland Auxiliary Police had 33 volunteers, while West Virginia State Police officers, working mostly on traffic, numbered 15.

Judges for the events were Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, Mayor Thomas S. Post and Thomas S. Conlon. Timers were Nathan Hauger and Derr Golladay, the latter also acting as the handicapper for the events.

The general committee of the three sponsoring groups follows: General co-ordinators, Lewis J. Ort, Harry Stern; Aviation, Lt. George Gocke, Margin Inge; Programs, Boston Sherwood; Tickets, Robert Ebert; Patrol, Chauncey Sanner; Publicity, Daniel D'Amicol; Arrangements, Henry Mackey, and Concessions, Walter Reichart.

Attends Ceramics Meet

J. H. Kruson, Frostburg, was among the 87 persons attending the annual spring meeting of the Pennsylvania Ceramics Association held during the weekend at Pennsylvania State College.

The Weather

Did you think it was hot yesterday? It really wasn't, the weatherman revealed last night. He said the high humidity made people believe it was pretty warm, but actually, the mercury only hit a peak of 78 degrees. At 11 o'clock last night, the thermometer read 64 degrees, just one higher than the low for the day. In revealing the temperature, the weatherman said the first 20 days in June were sort of rainy, with 13 of the 20 showing rain of some sort or another. The rain thus far for the month is 2.98 inches. A rainfall of 1.28 inches was recorded Saturday night. The forecast for today is fair, becoming rather cloudy by night. No rain is in sight, but there may be a surprise during the day.

Spriggs Home Is Gutted By Fire In Wiley Ford

Furniture, Clothing Completely Destroyed

A fire believed caused by a bolt of lightning gutted a three-room frame house near Wiley Ford School yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Spriggs, occupants and owners, said their clothing and furniture was also destroyed.

Members of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Department answered the call, made by a passing motorist. Firemen said when they arrived the building was enveloped in flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Spriggs were visiting their parents at the time, according to firemen, who said damage was in excess of $1,300, and was not covered by insurance.

The blaze was extinguished within three minutes after firemen went into action, Eugene Abe, fire chief, said but the flames had already destroyed the interior of the home and the furniture and clothing.

Abe said he believes a bolt of lightning struck the roof of the building and started the fire. He explained that a corner of the roof was burned away.

The exterior walls of the building which were covered with insul brick were not burned and may be used in construction of a new building, Chief Abe declared.

Spriggs arrived at the scene of the fire before firemen departed, according to Abe, but was unable to salvage any of the clothing or furniture.

It is possible that the flames were smouldering for several hours before discovery, Abe reported, adding that when the unidentified motorist reported the blaze he said the flames were spreading rapidly.

The building, located near the Wiley Ford School, was not close enough to the school or surrounding homes to endanger them, the chief said.

He added, however, that firemen stayed at the scene sometime after the blaze was extinguished to wet down the embers.

Navy Training Schools Open To June Graduates

Torpedoman Chief Robert L. Belnap, officer in charge of the Cumberland Navy Recruiting Station, announced yesterday that the Career Training Trade Schools available to high school graduates are wide open for the month of June.

"Heretofore, the schools have been on a quota basis," Belnap said, "but all graduates of area high schools, may take advantage of the Navy program which includes electrician, electronics technicians, fire controlmen, radar, machinist, metalsmith, radiomen, enginemen, opticalmen, storekeepers, clerical, paternmakers, cooks, butchers, aviation machinists, aviation radiomen, aviation electrician, aviation electronics, aerial photographers, aerographers, parachute riggers, air controlmen, and aviation structural mechanic."

Former Zihlman Girl Takes Two Scholarships

Miss Shirley Stevens, Detroit, Mich., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Stevens, formerly of Zihlman, has been awarded two four-year scholarships, one to the University of Michigan and the other to Michigan State College.

Several of Miss Stevens' musical compositions will be published in Hollywood soon. She plans to work for her doctor's degree in musical therapy.

Mrs. Matilda Race, Zihlman, is a grandmother, and Mrs. Henry Meek, Shaft, is an aunt.

Fiske Identified With Communists

Mel Fiske was identified as "Cumberland organizer" of the Communist Party in a recent booklet pubished by the House Committee on un-American Activities, the Washington Star reported.

Fiske's name appeared along with eight others, who were identified as active members of the Communist Party's Maryland - District of Columbia District. His was the only one linked with Cumberland.'

The Washington Star story was based on a recent booklet published by the Un-American Activities committee which contains a series of questions and answers dealing with the Communist Party.

Indicative of the questions and answers is one which asks, "Do only Communists carry out Communist Work?" and the answer "No. The party uses what it calls 'fellow travelers' and 'front organizations' in some of its most effective work."

The booklet lists the officers and offices of the Communist Party throughout the United States and may be obtained free of charge by writing to the office of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Room 226, Old House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Meyersdale Man Is Arrested Here

George Berkeley, Meyersdale, Pa., is being held in the City Jail following his arrest yesterday on a charge of trespassing on Baltimore and Ohio Railroad property.

He will be arraigned in Police Court this morning, officers said.

BIRTHS

Allegany Hospital reported the following births last night:

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Zaph, 242 Williams Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Oberlin Chaney, Cresaptown, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart C. Hammond, 819 Mt. Royal Avenue, a daughter.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births last night:

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Ellison, Cresaptown, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton McIntyre, Westernport, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stakem are the parents of a daughter born in Doctor's Hospital, Washington, D. C., Thursday. Mrs. Stakem was the former Dorothy Garlitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Garlitz, Cumberland.

Miss Marybelle Bageant Withdraws From Local Beauty Contest Tonight

10 Will Seek Title Of Miss Cumberland

There was a last minute scratch on the list of entries for Cumberland's Beauty pageant, scheduled to be presented at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Fort Hill High School auditorium, when Miss Marybelle Bageant announced her withdrawal at the final rehearsal.

Miss Bageant was the 11th and last entrant to be announced, Jack Moore, stage director, said, and her withdrawal leaves 10 contestants to compete for the title of Miss Cumberland tonight and the right to represent the city in the state finals to be held here in August.

The 10 contestants and seven judges were guests of the Junior Association of Commerce, sponsor of the pageant, at a dinner last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The judges include Edgar A. Dashiell, Mrs. Aurelia Becker, Mrs. Reneith Lottig, James W. Bishop, Robert Goldfine, John L. Ort, and Charles F. Helmrich.

A dress rehearsal was held yesterday afternoon, and the background of the stage provides unique and colorful picture-setting for the 10 beauties.

A program of entertainment will be interspersed with the appearance of the beauties and a full two-hour stage show is in prospect for those attending.

A feature of the presentation is a runway, five feet wide, built out into the audience, to give judges and the audience a close-up view of each contestant. Special lighting has been arranged, and the whole affair has a decided professional touch.

Miss Cumberland will be selected and crowned by Miss Jean Dixon, last year's Miss Maryland, after the judges have completed tabulating their ballots.

T. B. X-Ray Clinic Will Be Held At Ridgeley School

Mobile Unit Will Also Visit Keyser

The West Virginia State Health Department has announced that Mineral County will be included in a state-wide survey to detect cases of tuberculosis.

The department states that the object of the survey is to detect tuberculosis early while the chance for recovery is still good and before the disease has entered its advanced stages, when it becomes contagious.

The mobile X-ray unit operated by the health department which can take 500 pictures a day, will be stationed in Keyser at the grade school building on Tuesday and Wednesday this week, and X-ray pictures will be made between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12 noon, and 1 to 4 p. m. (EST).

The unit will move to Ridgeley on Thursday morning and operate at the high school building from 1 to 4 p. m. that day.

The department has announced that each person X-rayed will be asked to name his private physician. If the X-ray should disclose any evidence the patient needs medical attention, he will be referred to his physician. The department stated that all information will be kept confidential, and that stripping to the waist for the examination will not be necessary.

Children under 15 will not be

Pfc. David Bean's Body To Be Returned Today For Reburial

The body of Pfc David E. Bean, 26, son of Mrs. Sarah Pope Bean, 617 Maryland Avenue, and the late Philip L. Bean, will be brought to the Scarpelli Funeral Home early this afternoon for a reburial service later.

Pfc. Bean was born February 3, 1919, in Moorefield, W. Va. Prior to coming to Cumberland, he lived in Paw Paw, W. Va., where he was employed at the Consolidated Orchards. He worked at the Celanese plant here for eight years before entering the service December 3, 1942. He was killed in action on Luzon on March 16, 1945.

He is survived, besides his mother, by three sisters, Mrs. Orville W. Cosgrove, Mrs. Charles E. Riley and Mrs. Guy E. Boggs, all of this city.

Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, will officiate and reburial will be in Asbury Cemetery, near Moorefield.

Police Invited To Pistol Match

Members of the Cumberland Police Department, Allegany County Sheriff's Office and Maryland State Police, LaVale Barracks, have been invited to participate in the annual pistol match which the Maryland Police Association will sponsor July 21 in Baltimore.

The main object of the match, officials said, is to promote greater efficiency and safety in the handling of the revolver that is such an important part of an officer's equipment.

The first association match was held in Baltimore last year.

Swanton Mine Report Filed

The Koontz Coal Company's Swanton mine, Barton, has been commended for compliance with accepted safety standards by a mine safety inspector, who also recommended several auxiliary safety measures.

The citation was noted in a Department of the Interior bulletin which said Inspector W. D. Baldwin inspected the mine in April and found 14 men employed and an average daily production of 50 tons of coal.

To correct remaining hazards, the inspector recommended firing of the permissible explosives with electric detonators of proper strength, offset installation and safety devices for the fan and construction of an air lock in the mouth of the main drift portal.

Also' recommended were a shielding belt drive, universal wearing of hard-toe shoes, and the use of goggles by workers exposed to flying particles.

Baldwin also proposed that all underground workers wear permissible electric cap lamps and that they refrain from smoking while in the mine.

Walsh Nominated To Head State Bar

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 20 (AP)—The 53rd annual convention of the Maryland State Bar Association will open here Thursday morning.

The gathering will conclude Saturday, when former Supreme Court Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts will address the attorneys at their annual banquet.

Business sessions will be held throughout the first day. Thursday night there will be an address by Judge Joseph Sherbow of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore. He will discuss "Contempt of Court by Publication, Broadcast and Television."

Frederick Brune, retiring president of the association, will deliver an address Friday night. William C. Walsh, Cumberland, former Maryland attorney general, has been nominated to succeed Brune.

Marine Board To Meet

The Promotion Board of the local Marine Reserve Board will meet Thursday night following the regular drill period at the State Armory, it was announced last night.

Capt. John T. Fey and Sgt. Ralph C. Bowen, Jr., comprise the unit which will study all qualified men eligible for promotion to sergeant.

Improved Welfare Relief Urged At Citizens' Meeting

Insurance Clause Disapproval Shown

Improved welfare relief and methods used by the Allegany County Welfare Board in administering it were urged yesterday at a meeting of approximately 50 members of a citizens committee headed by I. C. Brant, chairman.

Many of the members who are now receiving relief allotments from the county board expressed disapproval with a requirement that forces them to surrender cash value of insurance policies in excess of $150, and well as self-owned homes.

Brant, in an opening address, declared, "We are not trying to offend the Welfare Board but to aid it in doing its work and also to try and bring about conditions that will result in better treatment for persons applying for old age benefits.

Newspaper clippings showing action of the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates and Senator Robert B. Kimble to get an increased appropriation at the special session of the Maryland General ssembly were also read. Members expressed approval of the action.

Brant declared the aged who are now seeking welfare aid have served this county as useful citizens during the early years of their lives and should now be treated as "upright citizens."

Informing the members that he has been a member of the Townsend movement for the past 11 years, Brant urged them to join and take an active part. He declared legislation recommended by Townsend would make Welfare Boards unnecessary.

Senator Kimble and Allegany delegates who were expected to attend yesterday's meeting in the City Hall auditorium were not present. Brant said the committee will again meet on the third Sunday in July.

Orville Merrbaugh Arrested On Sunday

Orville Merrbaugh, 203 Paca Street, was arrested yesterday following a disturbance near his home. Police have booked him for drunk and disorderly conduct.

Eugene Oldaker Arrested

Eugene Oldaker, Cumberland, was arrested yesterday on a charge of being drunk and panhandling on Centre Street. He is lodged in city jail pending a hearing this morning.

Undergoes Operation

Cresaptown Girl Hurt In Accident Reported "Good"

Car Skidded On Wet Road, Police Say

Betty McBee, 23-year-old Cresaptown girl, was reported in "good" condition last night in Allegany Hospital where she was admitted Saturday at 8 p. m. after suffering injuries in an automobile accident on Route 220 near Bean's Cove Road, according to State Police.

Hospital attaches said Miss McBee suffered a fractured collar bone as a result of the accident. Police said Guy O'Hara, Cresaptown, was driver of the car but escaped injury.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck said the accident was not reported to State Police until after midnight when he discovered O'Hara's car over an embankment at the scene of the accident.

O'Hara was quoted by police as saying his car went into a skid on the wet road, struck a pole along the highway and then turned over and rolled down the embankment.

A motorist who was following O'Hara took both the driver and the injured girl to the hospital. Police said O'Hara returned to the scene of the accident shortly before midnight after ordering a wrecker to tow the car in.

No charges were preferred, according to police.

A second accident was investigated early yesterday morning after two cars collided at the intersection of Winchester Road and Vocke Drive, according to Trooper William McElfish.

Trooper McElfish said William Harry Earle, 21, 834 Greene Street, and Milton Webster Wertz, 19, RFD 1, LaVale, were summoned for hearings on motor vehicle charges as a result of the accident.

Earle and Wertz, Trooper McElfish said, were operating the cars when they collided. The front ends of both machines were slightly damaged. Police said neither driver was injured.

Over 10,000 Patrons See Air Show Here

One Mishap Reported During Afternoon Show

Approximately 10,000 patrons braved the hot rays of the sun at the Cumberland Airport yesterday afternoon to witness the third annual Greater Cumberland air show.

The program, off to a late start, was featured by a pylon race which ended with a thrilling finish between a Cessna "140" and a Piper "J-3," with the former beating out the latter at the closing second of the three-lap race. The pilot of the Cessna was Harold Dodd, Moorefield, W. Va., who came across the finish line in 37 minutes and 44 seconds. W. L. Kline and his Piper, second place winner, was clocked at 38 minutes flat. A Taylorcraft piloted by Berkey Smith, placed third.

The Maryland National Guard and its P-47's presented a patriotic spectacle never before seen in Cumberland, when they flew in flight formations after taking off at split-second intervals. The final feat, was a mock strafing raid on the crowd, in itself a thrilling climax to the Guard's performance. The all-veteran group had as its leader Lt. Col. Gould.

Jet Fighters Grounded

A disappointment to practically all the patrons was the announcement that the P-80 jet fighters were unable to make the 16-minute trip from Washington due to bad flying weather in the Nation's Capital.

The show was jointly sponsored by the Exchange Club, the Junior Association of Commerce and the Mountain Air Service, and committeemen said the P-80 "Shooting Stars" will make a Sunday appearance in the near future, with no admission to be charged at that time. The other event called off during the afternoon was the tug-of-war.

Bernie Miltenberger, local flyer, amused the crowd when he took his plane up and cut capers with it. He made the young and old alike scream with delight as he bounced around and wiggled the plane's tail.

The thriller during the show was provided by James Armstrong and his Miles-Sparrowhawk. The young war veteran took his English-type plane into every conceivable twist and dive. His rolls at the top of a loop-the-loop, followed by racing it upside down, sent ohs and ahs through the sky-looking audience.

A parachute jump by a Winchester, Va., man, Richard Hockman, ended in the edge of a group of trees. According to Hockman, the wind changed on him, and he was unable to maneuver his chute to safe landing. He escaped the ordeal without even a scratch. Volunteer firemen helped to get him out of a tree.

The stunt-provoking Marine Helicopters took to the air and actually stood still and waved at members in the reviewing stand. The new Leatherneck Rescue Helicopters came to Cumberland from Quantico, Va., and departed immediately following their stunts.

Bloom Is Injured

The only mishap during the afternoon was to Harold V. Bloom, Cumberland, who was struck by a wing tip of a plane during the bombing contest. According to officials at the airport, Bloom was the target of the bombers as he rode in a truck. A plane operated by Thomas Shannon came close to drop a bomb and as he banked his Aeronca, the wing tip struck Bloom on the head, causing him to be rushed to Memorial Hospital, where attaches said he was treated for a head laceration and released. An unidentified girl was also taken to the hospital after she fainted near the reviewing stand.

The spot bombing contest was won by Shannon, with one direct hit, while James Armstrong was second.

In the balloon bursting contest, Armstrong was declared the winner, with Bernie Miltenberger second.

Traffic Moves Fast

Traffic moved in and out of the airfield better this year than any previous show, the sponsors announced last night as they praised law enforcement officers. The Cumberland Police Force had six regulars working, the Cumberland Auxiliary Police had 33 volunteers, while West Virginia State Police officers, working mostly on traffic, numbered 15.

Judges for the events were Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, Mayor Thomas S. Post and Thomas S. Conlon. Timers were Nathan Hauger and Derr Golladay, the latter also acting as the handicapper for the events.

The general committee of the three sponsoring groups follows: General co-ordinators, Lewis J. Ort, Harry Stern; Aviation, Lt. George Gocke, Margin Inge; Programs, Boston Sherwood; Tickets, Robert Ebert; Patrol, Chauncey Sanner; Publicity, Daniel D'Amicol; Arrangements, Henry Mackey, and Concessions, Walter Reichart.

Car Skidded On Wet Road, Police Say

Betty McBee, 23-year-old Cresaptown girl, was reported in "good" condition last night in Allegany Hospital where she was admitted Saturday at 8 p. m. after suffering injuries in an automobile accident on Route 220 near Bean's Cove Road, according to State Police.

Hospital attaches said Miss McBee suffered a fractured collar bone as a result of the accident. Police said Guy O'Hara, Cresaptown, was driver of the car but escaped injury.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck said the accident was not reported to State Police until after midnight when he discovered O'Hara's car over an embankment at the scene of the accident.

O'Hara was quoted by police as saying his car went into a skid on the wet road, struck a pole along the highway and then turned over and rolled down the embankment.

A motorist who was following O'Hara took both the driver and the injured girl to the hospital. Police said O'Hara returned to the scene of the accident shortly before midnight after ordering a wrecker to tow the car in.

No charges were preferred, according to police.

A second accident was investigated early yesterday morning after two cars collided at the intersection of Winchester Road and Vocke Drive, according to Trooper William McElfish.

Trooper McElfish said William Harry Earle, 21, 834 Greene Street, and Milton Webster Wertz, 19, RFD 1, LaVale, were summoned for hearings on motor vehicle charges as a result of the accident.

Earle and Wertz, Trooper McElfish said, were operating the cars when they collided. The front ends of both machines were slightly damaged. Police said neither driver was injured.

Spriggs Home Is Gutted By Fire In Wiley Ford

Furniture, Clothing Completely Destroyed

A fire believed caused by a bolt of lightning gutted a three-room frame house near Wiley Ford School yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Spriggs, occupants and owners, said their clothing and furniture was also destroyed.

Members of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Department answered the call, made by a passing motorist. Firemen said when they arrived the building was enveloped in flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Spriggs were visiting their parents at the time, according to firemen, who said damage was in excess of $1,300, and was not covered by insurance.

The blaze was extinguished within three minutes after firemen went into action, Eugene Abe, fire chief, said but the flames had already destroyed the interior of the home and the furniture and clothing.

Abe said he believes a bolt of lightning struck the roof of the building and started the fire. He explained that a corner of the roof was burned away.

The exterior walls of the building which were covered with insul brick were not burned and may be used in construction of a new building, Chief Abe declared.

Spriggs arrived at the scene of the fire before firemen departed, according to Abe, but was unable to salvage any of the clothing or furniture.

It is possible that the flames were smouldering for several hours before discovery, Abe reported, adding that when the unidentified motorist reported the blaze he said the flames were spreading rapidly.

The building, located near the Wiley Ford School, was not close enough to the school or surrounding homes to endanger them, the chief said.

He added, however, that firemen stayed at the scene sometime after the blaze was extinguished to wet down the embers.

Former Zihlman Girl Takes Two Scholarships

Miss Shirley Stevens, Detroit, Mich., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Stevens, formerly of Zihlman, has been awarded two four-year scholarships, one to the University of Michigan and the other to Michigan State College.

Several of Miss Stevens' musical compositions will be published in Hollywood soon. She plans to work for her doctor's degree in musical therapy.

Mrs. Matilda Race, Zihlman, is a grandmother, and Mrs. Henry Meek, Shaft, is an aunt.

Fiske Identified With Communists

Mel Fiske was identified as "Cumberland organizer" of the Communist Party in a recent booklet pubished by the House Committee on un-American Activities, the Washington Star reported.

Fiske's name appeared along with eight others, who were identified as active members of the Communist Party's Maryland - District of Columbia District. His was the only one linked with Cumberland.'

The Washington Star story was based on a recent booklet published by the Un-American Activities committee which contains a series of questions and answers dealing with the Communist Party.

Indicative of the questions and answers is one which asks, "Do only Communists carry out Communist Work?" and the answer "No. The party uses what it calls 'fellow travelers' and 'front organizations' in some of its most effective work."

The booklet lists the officers and offices of the Communist Party throughout the United States and may be obtained free of charge by writing to the office of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Room 226, Old House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Miss Marybelle Bageant Withdraws From Local Beauty Contest Tonight

10 Will Seek Title Of Miss Cumberland

There was a last minute scratch on the list of entries for Cumberland's Beauty pageant, scheduled to be presented at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Fort Hill High School auditorium, when Miss Marybelle Bageant announced her withdrawal at the final rehearsal.

Miss Bageant was the 11th and last entrant to be announced, Jack Moore, stage director, said, and her withdrawal leaves 10 contestants to compete for the title of Miss Cumberland tonight and the right to represent the city in the state finals to be held here in August.

The 10 contestants and seven judges were guests of the Junior Association of Commerce, sponsor of the pageant, at a dinner last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The judges include Edgar A. Dashiell, Mrs. Aurelia Becker, Mrs. Reneith Lottig, James W. Bishop, Robert Goldfine, John L. Ort, and Charles F. Helmrich.

A dress rehearsal was held yesterday afternoon, and the background of the stage provides unique and colorful picture-setting for the 10 beauties.

A program of entertainment will be interspersed with the appearance of the beauties and a full two-hour stage show is in prospect for those attending.

A feature of the presentation is a runway, five feet wide, built out into the audience, to give judges and the audience a close-up view of each contestant. Special lighting has been arranged, and the whole affair has a decided professional touch.

Miss Cumberland will be selected and crowned by Miss Jean Dixon, last year's Miss Maryland, after the judges have completed tabulating their ballots.

T. B. X-Ray Clinic Will Be Held At Ridgeley School

Mobile Unit Will Also Visit Keyser

The West Virginia State Health Department has announced that Mineral County will be included in a state-wide survey to detect cases of tuberculosis.

The department states that the object of the survey is to detect tuberculosis early while the chance for recovery is still good and before the disease has entered its advanced stages, when it becomes contagious.

The mobile X-ray unit operated by the health department which can take 500 pictures a day, will be stationed in Keyser at the grade school building on Tuesday and Wednesday this week, and X-ray pictures will be made between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12 noon, and 1 to 4 p. m. (EST).

The unit will move to Ridgeley on Thursday morning and operate at the high school building from 1 to 4 p. m. that day.

The department has announced that each person X-rayed will be asked to name his private physician. If the X-ray should disclose any evidence the patient needs medical attention, he will be referred to his physician. The department stated that all information will be kept confidential, and that stripping to the waist for the examination will not be necessary.

Children under 15 will not be

Police Invited To Pistol Match

Members of the Cumberland Police Department, Allegany County Sheriff's Office and Maryland State Police, LaVale Barracks, have been invited to participate in the annual pistol match which the Maryland Police Association will sponsor July 21 in Baltimore.

The main object of the match, officials said, is to promote greater efficiency and safety in the handling of the revolver that is such an important part of an officer's equipment.

The first association match was held in Baltimore last year.

Swanton Mine Report Filed

The Koontz Coal Company's Swanton mine, Barton, has been commended for compliance with accepted safety standards by a mine safety inspector, who also recommended several auxiliary safety measures.

The citation was noted in a Department of the Interior bulletin which said Inspector W. D. Baldwin inspected the mine in April and found 14 men employed and an average daily production of 50 tons of coal.

To correct remaining hazards, the inspector recommended firing of the permissible explosives with electric detonators of proper strength, offset installation and safety devices for the fan and construction of an air lock in the mouth of the main drift portal.

Also recommended were a shielding belt drive, universal wearing of hard-toe shoes, and the use of goggles by workers exposed to flying particles.

Baldwin also proposed that all underground workers wear permissible electric cap lamps and that they refrain from smoking while in the mine.

Insurance Clause Disapproval Shown

Improved welfare relief and methods used by the Allegany County Welfare Board in administering it were urged yesterday at a meeting of approximately 50 members of a citizens committee headed by I. C. Brant, chairman.

Many of the members who are now receiving relief allotments from the county board expressed disapproval with a requirement that forces them to surrender cash value of insurance policies in excess of $150, and well as self-owned homes.

Brant, in an opening address, declared, "We are not trying to offend the Welfare Board but to aid it in doing its work and also to try and bring about conditions that will result in better treatment for persons applying for old age benefits.

Newspaper clippings showing action of the Allegany County Delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates and Senator Robert B. Kimble to get an increased appropriation at the special session of the Maryland General ssembly were also read. Members expressed approval of the action.

Brant declared the aged who are now seeking welfare aid have served this county as useful citizens during the early years of their lives and should now be treated as "upright citizens."

Informing the members that he has been a member of the Townsend movement for the past 11 years, Brant urged them to join and take an active part. He declared legislation recommended by Townsend would make Welfare Boards unnecessary.

Senator Kimble and Allegany delegates who were expected to attend yesterday's meeting in the City Hall auditorium were not present. Brant said the committee will again meet on the third Sunday in July.

The Weather

Did you think it was hot yesterday? It really wasn't, the weatherman revealed last night. He said the high humidity made people believe it was pretty warm, but actually, the mercury only hit a peak of 78 degrees. At 11 o'clock last night, the thermometer read 64 degrees, just one higher than the low for the day. In revealing the temperature, the weatherman said the first 20 days in June were sort of rainy, with 13 of the 20 showing rain of some sort or another. The rain thus far for the month is 2.98 inches. A rainfall of 1.28 inches was recorded Saturday night. The forecast for today is fair, becoming rather cloudy by night. No rain is in sight, but there may be a surprise during the day.
